MONEYLENDER SENTENCED TO EIGHT MONTHS IN WORKHOUSE

R. S. Myers, Ex-Manager of American Brokerage Co., Convicted of Having No License as Small Loan Law Requires.

"TIME TO LET THEM KNOW," SAYS JUDGE

Borrowers Who Stopped Making Payments on Advice of the Better Business Bureau Appear as Prosecuting Witnesses.

R. S. Myers, 2407 Bellevue avenue, the first of three persons to be tried on charges of violating the small loan law of 1927 by making loans of less than $200 at more than 5 per cent interest without having obtained a license from the State Finance Department, was sentenced to eight months in the workhouse today by Judge Butler after the Court of Criminal Correction. His bond was fixed at $1000 pending his motion for a new trial.

"I think this is a good time to let loan companies know the law," Judge Butler said in imposing sentence. "It is a shame to permit them to impose on the public."

Edgar Allison, 1912A North Fifteenth street, and Roy Meeks, 1606 Franklin avenue, testified they borrowed small amounts from the American Brokerage Co., of which Myers said he was manager, in May, 1929, but declined to complete payment of the amounts on advice of the Better Business Bureau. They consulted the bureau, they said, after they read its advertisement concerning the company.

Allison said he had repaid $20 on a loan of $134. Meeks said he had borrowed $20 and agreed to make six payments of $4.50 each to the company, a total of $27.

Myers said he was merely manager for the American Brokerage Co., in the Equitable Building, at salary of $150 a month. He said he was employed by a woman whom he knew as Mrs. M. Z. Borah of Ohio. He could not give her address.

Myers said he had left the company several months ago and was operating the Universal Collection Agency in the Fullerton Building.

The cases of Clark G. Hardman of the Service Purchasing Co. and W. S. Sherrill of the Union Trading Co. were continued to June 10 and 12, respectively.

LINDBERGH'S PLAN PACIFIC FLIGHT ON ORIENT AIR TOUR

Flyer and Wife to Use Pontoon-Equipped Monoplane on Trip Expected to Begin Within Month.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, June 4.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh will leave within a month for a flying tour of the Far East, making the trip by air across the North Pacific. Mrs. Lindbergh will accompany him.

The exact date of his departure has not been determined, but, at his request, the State Department is asking the Japanese and Chinese Governments for permission for him to land in those countries.

Although the trip across the North Pacific will not involve any long water hops, Col. Lindbergh is taking every safety precaution.

His Lockheed monoplane will be equipped with pontoons and he will make fueling arrangements at necessary points. State Department officials said that, if it was necessary for Lindbergh to land on the Soviet territory of Siberia, he would get permission privately as other flyers do when planning flights over Soviet territory.

The purpose of the trip, Lindbergh told the department, was to tour the Orient. His present plans call for an air tour of two or three weeks around China and Japan. The Lindberghs will not take with them their young son.

Plans for the return trip from the Orient have not been arranged, Lindbergh stating that he had not determined whether he would return by boat or by the northern air route.

The announcement of the proposed flight was made by Under Secretary of State Castle in compliance with a request by telephone from Col. Lindbergh today.

GANDHI SAYS HE WILL GO TO NEXT LONDON CONFERENCE

Declares Supreme Desire Is to Attain Lasting Peace Between Britain and India.

BOMBAY, India, June 4.—Mahatma Gandhi assured his followers in an article in Young India today that he would go to the second round table conference in London either as an official or unofficial delegate. He said: "I can but give my assurance that having entered upon the settlement I am eager for the sake of the good name of the congress to proceed to London to deliver its message to the round table conference and to British statesmen, not excluding even Mr. Churchill."

"I know he and his party do not realize that the congress is no enemy of Great Britain. The congress merely wants for India what he and his associates have fought to secure for Great Britain. I therefore need no persuasion to take me to London."

"My supreme desire is to attain a lasting peace if it can be had with honor, without inviting 'the nation to engage in another fight involving untold suffering.'"

FLAMES ROUT 100 IN BEERS HOTEL AT GRAND AND OLIVE

$48,000 Damage in Early Morning Blaze Discovered in Basement That Reaches Roof.

SEVERAL AGED WOMEN RESCUED

Proprietor Carries Mrs. Augusta L. Weil, 86, From Third Floor; One Guest, 90, Overcome.

Fire at Beers Hotel, northwest corner of Grand boulevard and Olive street, early today routed about 100 sleeping guests, many of whom fled in night clothing to the street.

Damage was estimated at about $48,000 by Fire Chief Alt. Of this $30,000 was to the structure and hotel contents. The remainder was smoke and water damage in first floor stores.

The blaze was discovered about 3:45 o'clock in the basement of the old five-story brick structure occupied by the hotel. Edward Miller, the owner, who was in the lobby with G. M. Gore, night clerk, ran from room to room warning guests. Soon he was joined by firemen responding to the first alarm, who succeeded in emptying the hotel. Several elderly women on upper floors were escorted to safety by Miller and firemen.

The first fire company on the scene began to extinguish the blaze in the basement. Further investigation disclosed the flames had risen through the rear walls of the west wing to the second floor. A general alarm was sounded at 4:10, by which time flames were seen on the roof. About 40 pumpers, hose and ladder wagons responded, including the new $5000 tower built by the Fire Department.

Blaze in West Wing.
Firemen kept the flames restricted entirely to the west wing. Flames reached an ornamental tower on the southwest corner, and it was pulled down with woodhooks and ropes. The blazing tower was nearly obscured at times by clouds of smoke. The flames occasionally swept against the new Continental Life Insurance Building. Immediately the Maroon station here received a message from the DO-X at 5:32 p. m. saying the plane was heading southward and that all was well aboard.

The distance from Porto Praia to Natal, Brazil, is about 1000 miles in a southwesterly direction. The plane reached Porto Praia last week from the vicinity of Bomana, Portuguese West Africa, and began a series of tests in landing and taking off.

Since the craft left Altenrhein, Switzerland, last winter, intending to cross the Atlantic by easy stages, the flight has experienced many delays.

In Portugal fire destroyed one of the wings and the plane was laid up a long time for repairs. When the DO-X finally got to the Canary Islands, bad weather and heavy seas delayed the takeoff, but at last the plane was able to cross the stretch of water between the islands and Africa to Villa Cisneros, Rio de Oromana. It went on down to Bomana.

HOLDUP MAN SLAIN BROTHER SHOT BY OKLAHOMA POSSE

Citizens Fire on Two Men as They Flee After Robbing Bank at Mounds.

By the Associated Press.
MOUNDS, Ok., June 4.—Fire of a citizens' posse stopped two robbers in their flight from the Bank of Mounds today. One robber was killed and the other wounded.

The men were identified as Frank Carver, 34 years old, and Tom Carver, 40, brothers. Frank was killed at the steering wheel of an automobile in which the pair sought to escape after merging from the bank with $600 in loot.

Tom was wounded as he ran after jumping from the car. Creek County officers said Tom Carver told them he and his brother had stolen the car at Sapulpa and had planned to rob a bank at Jenks after raiding the Mounds bank.

Tom Carver was shot in the back and in the right shoulder. Physicians at a Sapulpa hospital said he would recover.

FALL'S COMMITMENT TO JAIL IS NEXT STEP

District Attorney to Ask Counsel When His Client Will Come to Washington.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—All legal steps save one necessary to send Albert Bacon Fall to jail today had been completed.

The District of Columbia Supreme Court was officially notified that the Supreme Court had refused to review the conviction of the former Secretary of the Interior on a charge of taking a bribe from Edward L. Doheny, wealthy oil man.

The notification consisted of the filing with the clerk of the District Supreme Court of a mandate directing the carrying out of the sentence of a year in jail and a fine of $100,000. Ordinarily, the counsel or bondsmen for the convicted person is directed to have him in court upon a certain date for commitment to prison.

District Attorney Rover plans to ask Frank Hogan, Fall's attorney, to get in touch with the latter at his home in Three Rivers, N. M., and learn when he will come to Washington to begin the sentence.

Subscriptions received by Federal Reserve banks and the Treasury Department through the mailing of their grain, provided an ever-ready and convenient means of marketing, and was of distinct advantage to the farmers in the prices they received.

HOW CHIEF GERK GOT STREET FIXED WITHOUT ASKING

Took Director Brooks Over the Bumps on Pretext of Pleasure Drive.

In connection with the reopening of repaved Wyoming street, for the two blocks between Louisiana avenue and Grand boulevard, Chief of Police Gerck, tells an amusing experience.

The Chief, who lives at 3540 Wyoming street, decided the thoroughfare should be made navigable to motor traffic. He invited Robert P. Brooks, Director of Streets and Sewers, to luncheon. Then he ordered out the "hardest-riding automobile in the police garage."

Choosing a Gravois road restaurant, the Chief had his chauffeur traverse hungry Wyoming street, with instructions not to miss any of the holes in the paving. Frequent lurching propelled the Street Director's head into the top of the police car.

"For goodness' sake, Chief," Brooks exclaimed, "what kind of a car have you got here?"

"It's not the car, Robert," Chief Gerck explained, "it's your blankety-blank streets."

The next morning the Street Department was busily filling up the holes in Wyoming street, and 10 days ago the thoroughfare was reopened for traffic, after new paving had been laid.

LIQUOR DEALER CONVICTED OF NOT PAYING INCOME TAX

"We Do Not Care How He Made It, But He Owes $102,183," U. S. Prosecutor Argues.

By the Associated Press.
PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 4.—A Federal jury yesterday convicted James Lavell, former wholesale liquor dealer, on four counts of evading payment of $102,183 in income taxes for the years 1925-28.

Judge Letts continued the case to June 12 for sentence, announcing he did so on condition that the court be called on to discuss the sentence "at no time and in no place" other than the court room.

A maximum penalty of five years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine may be imposed on each count.

Leslie E. Slater, special counsel for the Government, which alleged that Lavell had $413,000 "other" income during 1925-28 which he did not report in his argument for conviction, saying:

"We don't have to prove the source of that 'other' income. We do not care how he made it. He made it and he did not pay tax on it."

Defense counsel had maintained that the Government had not provided sufficient proof of the existence of "other" income.

FINDS DEALINGS IN GRAIN FUTURES BENEFITS FARMERS

Royal Commission Headed by Sir Josiah Stamp Reports on Canadian Inquiry.

By the Associated Press.
OTTAWA, June 4.—The Royal Commission on Grain Futures reported to the House of Commons today that dealing in grain futures is, on the whole beneficial to the farmer.

The commission, headed by Sir Josiah Stamp, widely known British economist, found that, while the futures system aroused distrust and suspicion in the minds of some farmers, it really benefited them by furnishing insurance for handling of their grain, provided an ever-ready and convenient means of marketing, and was of distinct advantage to the farmers in the prices they received.

POPE SENDS ANOTHER NOTE TO ITALY, ONE WAS REFUSED

Premier Exhorts Followers to Stand Firm Against Enemies, 'Under Whatever Banner'—Unofficial Parleying Continues.

By the Associated Press.
ROME, June 4.—Pope Pius XI spent an hour and a half today discussing all phases of the crisis between the Holy See and the Fascist government of Italy with the Marchese Pacelli, his attorney, who did important work in negotiations which brought about the Lateran treaty and Concordat.

The Papal Nuncio also took part in the conference, and when it was over it was disclosed that the Pope had delivered a second note to the Italian Foreign Office—presumably a strong protest against what he considers violation of the Concordat by dissolution of Catholic laymen's clubs.

This note, it was learned, was delivered Monday or Tuesday after Foreign Minister Dino Grandi, on advice from Premier Mussolini, had refused to receive the first note on Friday. The first note demanded apologies and revocations and the arrest and punishment of persons guilty of insulting the Pope. The second note, it is believed, repeated those demands.

The Marchese Pacelli, brother of Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli, the Papal Secretary of State, was said to have been participating with Cardinal Gasparri, signer of the Lateran Treaty, in informal negotiations looking toward a settlement of the dispute between the church and the state. These negotiations, it was reported today, are "proceeding satisfactorily."

Corpus Christi Parades Barred.
Outwardly there was no change in attitude today. The Pope through the priests in the 20,000 churches in Italy this morning forbade the public celebration of the day, Corpus Christi day. The customarily brilliant and colorful street parades and open "demonstrations" were forbidden as usual because there was no guarantee that they would be free from disturbance by those persons who participated in recent anti-Catholic rioting.

Each of the parishioners was given a copy of the Pope's speech last Sunday in which he placed the full authority of the church behind the Catholic Action organization and told its leaders, "We are with you throughout the centuries."

The priests explained that the Corpus Christi day processions could not be held outdoors as usual because there was no guarantee that they would be free from disturbance by those persons who participated in recent anti-Catholic rioting.

Mussolini is mobilizing the strength and spirit of the Fascist party to stamp out "what remains and so far has been spared" of anti-Fascism, particularly in Catholic organizations.

Presiding at a meeting of the party's directorate yesterday, Mussolini ordered more than a million of his followers throughout Italy to marshal themselves within the next few months with the idea that such elements should not find "refuge and protection."

The public was told officially, in a statement issued by the directorate, that there was an attitude "openly and surreptitiously hostile in some sections of the Catholic Action Society." Political and military education were to be emphasized, the statement said, so that Fascist youth would be "ready for any order."

The directorate acknowledged its "profound and immutable respect" for the Pope, the priest-hood and the Catholic Church but declared it was determined not to tolerate anti-Fascism under whatever banner, old or new.

To Celebrate Fascist Decade.
Plans were announced for a five-month exposition next fall to celebrate the first decade of Mussolini's power and the Fascist regime. It will open on Oct. 27, the anniversary of the Fascist march on Rome, and close March 23, 1932.

BRUNK BOWED MORE THAN ONCE OF BOND DEALER

J. K. Edlin Testifies He Hypothecated Securities to Lend "Nominal" Sum of $10,000 to Treasurer.

DEFENDANT AIDED IN BANK CHAIN DEAL

Chicagoan at Impeachment Trial Mentions His Scheme to Thaw Out "Frozen" Assets.

By CURTIS A. BETTS, A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 4.—The full history of the association of State Treasurer Larry Brunk and J. Kenneth Edlin of Chicago, who advanced $10,000 to Brunk in 1930, as told by Edlin, was placed before the Senate last night in the Brunk impeachment trial.

It was disclosed that the $10,000 was not the first loan from Edlin to Brunk and also that Brunk at one time aided Edlin in a scheme which Edlin said he had to purchase a string of 15 or 20 Missouri banks which were in difficult circumstances because of frozen assets.

The direct financial deals between the treasurer and Edlin, as related on the cross-examination, resulted from a liking Edlin had formed for the treasurer in 1929, four to six months before the impeachment trial. Edlin said he had of lending $10,000 or other "nominal" amounts to his friends without security. Edlin said he was worth $2,500,000 at the time the loans were made, but said his fortune had decreased considerably since that time.

Charges of Conspiracy. On direct examination by Brunk's attorney, John G. Madden, Edlin had testified briefly to his relations with Brunk and in much greater detail under severe cross-examination by Representative Carter of the House managers prosecuting the case.

As is known, the House managers in outlining the charges against Brunk and the proof they expected to produce, said they would show that Edlin, as president of the Provident State Securities Co., of Chicago, and William H. Norwine, a salesman for the company, had entered into a conspiracy by which Brunk would assist in the sale of the Pierre Chouteau apartment house bonds to Missouri banks which were State depositories, that Brunk agreed to accept the bonds as security for State deposits, and that the $10,000 advanced by Edlin was in consideration of the favors obtained from Brunk.

Edlin's Testimony.

Because of these charges, the cross-examination of Edlin was of particular interest in the trial. Summarized, the testimony was: About two years ago Norwine visited Edlin, seeking employment to sell bonds in Missouri for the Provident Co., setting forth that because many drainage districts had defaulted on bonds which banks held as security, it was the psychological time to sell guaranteed bonds to the depositories.

Norwine was employed as a salesman with the honorary title of resident vice president for Missouri. About a month later, May, 1929, Edlin first met Brunk, being introduced to him in the Jefferson Hotel in St. Louis by a bond dealer who represented the Provident Co. This was merely an accidental meeting and several other accidental meetings followed, Edlin fixing the number as four, five or six times, the latter part of 1929, when he met Brunk by appointment in St. Louis.

Brunk Aids in Bank Deal. Edlin at that time had under consideration a plan to purchase a string of Missouri banks through which the Provident company's bond issues could be sold, and apparently had some communication with Brunk about the matter before the arranged meeting.

At any rate, Edlin, Brunk and M. T. Easley, cashier of the Bank of Aurora, with whom the articles of impeachment charge Brunk conspired to defraud the State of interest money due from the bank, met in St. Louis. Brunk had informed Edlin that the Bank of Aurora might be purchased, and the three discussed the proposed deal and further, the possibility that Easley might be a good man to manage the bank and line up other banks to be purchased.

Edlin went to Aurora to look over the bank and Brunk met him at the train, driving him about the town and showing him the property Brunk owned, but not mentioning that all the property was mortgaged to the bank for loans.

After the drive, they went to the

After British Meteorologist's Rescue in Greenland

LEADERS of the expedition that rescued Augustine Courtland, British scientist and son of the millionaire silk magnate, after he had spent the winter studying weather conditions in a proposed air route over Greenland. Watkins, with a dog team, reached Courtland shortly before Ahrensberg arrived in his plane. Ahrensberg later flew Courtland and Watkins to Angmagssalik, where this photograph with a group of Eskimos, was taken.

bank, where they discussed with E. A. Adams, the president, and Easley the purchase of the bank. Easley mentioned several other banks which might be included in the chain, but Edlin said he had no recollection of their names or locations.

Scheme to Thaw Frozen Assets. In response to Carter's questions Edlin explained that because many banks were in difficulties because of "frozen assets" he thought he could buy them at reasonable prices, and with the resources of the Provident Co., "could put them in liquid shape," and make some money. Carter was insistent with questions as to how Edlin expected to make money out of the frozen assets of a bank, but about all the reply he got was that it "would depend on the conditions."

Edlin said he had not consulted any other bankers in Missouri about the proposition or about the condition of the Bank of Aurora.

He explained that the reason no progress was made on the deal was that as soon as he returned to Chicago he became sick and was in a hospital about two months. Carter inquired when he was in the hospital and Edlin replied in March and April, 1930. He had previously fixed the time of his visit to Aurora as the latter part of 1929, and became confused when Carter attempted to get him to reconcile his testimony with the fact that the deal was due to his sickness, which immediately followed his return to Chicago. Edlin finally fixed the time of his trip to Aurora as March, 1930.

As soon as he got out of the hospital he called Brunk on the telephone to renew the Aurora deal, but Brunk told him "something had happened in his office" which led him to believe the purchase of the Bank of Aurora might be inadvisable. So nothing was done about it.

It appeared from Edlin's testimony that Brunk visited him when he was in the hospital, but there was no testimony that the Bank of Aurora deal was discussed.

Tells of $1000 Loan.

Edlin's first loan to Brunk was made in January, 1930, Edlin testified. He had then known Brunk about nine months and had met him probably six times. He had "become fond" of Brunk, he said on learning his history, how he had started out as a miner and had worked up to the post of State Treasurer. They met by accident in St. Louis and in a conversation Brunk told him he was in some financial difficulties, that he had committed himself to buy a house in Jefferson City, that he was overdrawn at his bank and that he loaned to employees the Bank of Aurora. Edlin immediately suggested that if he could help him with a loan he would be glad to do so, and Brunk said that $1000 would help. Edlin produced the money in cash.

Carter questioned him closely as to whether the loan was in two $500 bills, endeavoring to trace this action two such bills of which the House investigating committee had obtained evidence that Brunk deposited in his account in the First National Bank in Jefferson City. The witness could not remember. He said he didn't consider the $1000 much money, that he frequently carried as high as $2500 in cash with him at that time, when he said his statement was not unusual, he said, for him to loan $10,000 to a friend on an unsecured note.

Brunk gave him such a note at the time, and paid it off, Edlin said, in two payments in cash. One payment was made in Edlin's hotel room in Aurora, the other time he went down to look over the bank, nobody being in the room except Edlin and Brunk. The second payment was in Edlin's hospital room in Chicago, the only persons in the room being Edlin, Mrs. Edlin and Brunk. His recollection concerning whether this second payment was in cash or by check was not clear.

Several Coincidences. The second loan, that for $10,000, was arranged between Brunk and Edlin when, again by accident, they happened to be in Kansas City the same day. This was June 14, 1930, the day the Finance Com-

HOW INSULLS AND NORTH AMERICAN AVOIDED RIVALRY

Arranged to Share in Power Firm Operating Numerous Utilities in the Middle West.

NEW YORK BANKER FOUND DEAD IN CHAIR

MORTIMER SCHIFF.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, June 4.—An arrangement whereby the North American Co. and the Insull Utilities group avoided competition in Middle Western territory was brought out today in the power hearing before the Federal Trade Commission.

Solicitor Healy of the Commission was informed by Edwin Gruhl, vice president and general manager of the North American Co., that both his interests and Insull's were anxious not to have the North American Light & Power Co., which operates numerous utilities in the Middle West, acquired by the other. Accordingly, Gruhl said, they made an arrangement whereby both would have a share in it.

Asked whether there had not been competition between the Insull Gas & Electric Co. and the Western Power Corporation, California subsidiary of the North American Co., Gruhl said there had been "rivalry," rather than competition.

Healy brought out that the firms ultimately merged, the North American subsidiary acquiring 32 per cent of the common stock of the Pacific at considerably below the market price.

"Would it be fair to say the Pacific Gas & Electric Co. paid you well to get out of that field?" asked Healy.

"I think the exchange was fair to both parties," was Gruhl's reply.

Gruhl denied earlier that any contributions had been made to the campaign expenses of Congressmen or that propaganda had been used to obtain political preference.

Questioned with respect to his company's policy of issuing 10 per cent stock instead of cash dividends, the witness said this policy was predicted upon constantly increasing growth of the company. He added there were no indications at present that expansion possibilities might ultimately reach a limit.

The policy, Gruhl said, was pursued to avoid the necessity of floating new stock issues. If stockholders prefer cash, he added, the company, through one of its subsidiaries, can dispose of the stock dividend for cash in the open market.

BOMBS IN "THIEVES' MARKET"

Explosions Kill Two and Injure Ten in Lisbon.

LISBON, June 4.—Two dynamite bombs, resembling brass bed knobs, exploded today in the Campo Santa Clara, known as "the thieves' market," throwing the bargain-hunters into a stampede and killing two persons and injuring 10.

Simao Garcia picked up one of the bombs while sorting some rubbish. It exploded, killing him instantly and injuring seven others.

Jose Antunes, a junk dealer, was killed and three persons injured when he picked up the other one, some distance away.

Police said that a number of these innocent-looking bombs have been found recently. They warned the public not to touch them.

POISON CASE SUSPECT REPORTED INDICTED

Mrs. Margaret Summers of Chicago Carried Insurance on Five Who Died.

INCOME TAX INQUIRY AIMED AT GANGSTERS

Madison and St. Clair County Racketeers May Be Probed by U. S.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, June 4.—Mrs. Margaret Summers, 47 years old, who survived four husbands and was suspected of having poisoned 19 persons, was reported indicted today by the grand jury.

The true bill was said to have charged her with the death of her nephew, Thomas Meyers, who died last May 14 in her home. The coroner's jury had ordered her held for investigation of the deaths of Meyers, her latest husband, Thomas Summers, and two lodgers in her house.

Mrs. Summers had admitted paying most of the premiums on insurance policies held by Meyers, Summers, William Riemann and Thomas Lanagan, the roomers whose deaths were attributed to poisoning as well as her brother, Louis Meyers, the father of Thomas Meyers. She was named as beneficiary in all policies.

Assistant State's Attorney C. Wayland Brooks acted to forestall an attempt by Mrs. Summers' attorneys to have her released on a writ of habeas corpus. He said she would be tried for the death of her last husband. She has been held for more than a week without formal charges.

Search of insurance company records showed she was the beneficiary of 16 policies. Five of the ten persons insured by those policies have died.

Mrs. Summers has admitted marrying James Lynch, James Fairfax and Stanley Korzen, all dead. She also married Warren Merritt and Leonard Jones. She denied it, as well as her guilt in all deaths.

SUSPECT INDICTED

Summers of Madison and St. Clair Counties Racketeers May Be Prosecuted by U. S.

The Internal Revenue Department at Washington has directed O. G. Addelman, district collector at Springfield, Ill., to make investigation of the incomes of gamblers, racketeers and racketeers central and southern Illinois, including St. Clair and Madison counties, who have not made income returns to the Government as required by law.

Addelman announced the Government has information that in underworld characters in his district, believed to have had large incomes from lawless pursuits, have evaded the income tax purposes, and the investigation warrant issued, was successfully used against Chicago gangsters by special agents of the Intelligence Unit of the Department.

Revenue agents and operators of the Intelligence Unit have been at work for some time in St. Clair and Madison counties checking the operations of underworld characters for income tax purposes. An Addelman's statement would indicate criminal action against some of the tax dodgers is likely to result.

MUENCH DEFINES RIGHT OF INQUIRY BY ALDERMEN

Hold Committee May Investigate Assessment Methods and Compel Production of Books.

The rights and limitations of the Board of Aldermen's special committee on assessments were defined in an opinion given by the committee today by City Counselor Muench.

In the opinion Muench said the committee is within its rights in conducting the investigation into assessment methods and that it may subpoena witnesses and compel the production of books and records, and that the result of its action cannot in any way bind the Assessor or the Board of Equalization.

The committee, of which Alderman Wimer is chairman, recently had Assessor Gehrer appear before it and because his is a state as well as a city office he questioned the right of the committee to have him bring before it the books and records of the office. It was then that the committee asked the City Counselor for an opinion.

Points Out Possible Danger. Muench reviewed the state laws governing the assessment of property for taxation, pointing out that both the Assessor and the Board of Equalization are required to use their own best judgment.

"I am of the opinion," Muench said, "that so far as the assessment of real property in St. Louis is concerned no recommendation which the Board of Aldermen might make with reference to such assessment would be binding either on the Assessor or on the Board of Equalization. They cannot be deprived of their rights or relieved of their responsibilities."

Muench said that if the Assessor should follow the plan which is being recommended by the Bureau of Municipal Research, "the result, in the absence of assurance that the same plan would be followed throughout the state, might be to place on the city of St. Louis a still heavier share of the state tax burden than it is now carrying."

Since it is a well known fact that real property in the other cities of the state and in the rural districts is not generally assessed at anything like its true value, such assurance can only be secured through a state law of general application.

Powers of Aldermen. "My conclusion is," Muench said, "whatever action the board may take at the conclusion of its investigation and whatever the legal effect of such action may be, the board may clearly within its rights in providing for the investigation now being conducted by the special committee, and that you have the right, as a necessary incident to this investigation, to subpoena any city official or private individual who may be able to throw any light on the subject you have been directed to inquire into, and to compel the production of any books or records which may be in the opinion of your committee be helpful in enabling you to reach a proper determination of the question before you."

As is known, the Bureau of Municipal Research has suggested a general revision of assessments, taking position that many inequalities exist, and that if all real property were assessed equally at some value less than actual value the city would receive several million dollars a year more in taxes than it receives at present. Several other suggestions have been made concerning more equitable ways of assessing property and it was for the purpose of inquiring into matter that Board of Aldermen created the special committee.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 4.—A life of adventure and romance leading half way around the world at the price of forfeiture of a fortune of $25,000,000 has ended with the death of Maj. Jordan Lawrence Mott, 50 years old, once New York's "millionaire reporter."

In last years a nationally known sportsman and author, Mott had lived on Santa Catalina Island. He spent the summers at a camp on the North Umpana River, near Roseburg, Ore., where death occurred yesterday.

At his bedside was his wife, the former Francis Hewitt Bowne, once a light opera singer, for whom he forsook the fortune of his father, J. L. Mott, New York iron manufacturer.

Shortly after he was graduated from Harvard, Mott went to work as a reporter in New York. He covered his assignments on news stories in an imported limousine driven by a chauffeur.

To Europe on Tramp Steamer. His first marriage was an unhappy one and during his domestic difficulties he met Mrs. Bowne, who, like himself, had experienced an unfortunate marital life. In May, 1912, they decided to elope, although neither had been divorced, and, as they later told the story, sailed for Europe from New York on a tramp steamer, the Indrago.

The departure of the pair was followed by a frantic effort by Mrs. Bowne to locate her husband.

Mott's father to make his son give up the romance. Giving Hector Fuller, a New York newspaper man, unlimited financial backing, the father sent him in pursuit of the pair. Fuller boarded a fast steamer, but arrived in Gibraltar two hours after they had left.

The chase led to Port Said and thence to Hongkong, where Fuller finally caught up with them. Mott refused to accede to entreaties. He lost his right to his father's fortune. To earn a living he worked at odd jobs in the far corners of the world while Mrs. Bowne gave concerts.

Both Are Later Divorced. In 1920 Mrs. Bowne's husband, a millionaire, obtained a divorce and seven years later Mrs. Mott divorced the adventurer.

By that time the pair had returned to the United States and were living on Santa Catalina Island. In October, 1928, they were married at Merced, Cal. A year before, Mott's mother, wealthy in her own right and a collector of Napoleonic relics, had died leaving her son only $25,000.

Mott then was earning $20 a day renting boats and catching swordfish. In his spare time he wrote fiction. He was the author of a successful novel, "Jules of the Great Love." Much of his time was devoted to campaigns for protection of natural game.

Besides his widow, his father and two children by his first marriage survive.

the anniversary of the installation of Fascism. The dissolution of thousands of Catholic youth clubs is expected to make available their membership for Fascist organizations. Catholic young people were instructed they could join up to July 1, whereafter they could enter only through long service.

Mussolini late yesterday transmitted his orders to his Fascists through a resolution adopted by the directorate of the Fascist party, exhorting all Fascists to defend the party's achievements against all anti-Fascists, "under whatever banner."

The present situation developed from an order by Mussolini ordering the dissolution and police suppression of all political organizations not affiliated with the Fascist party. This was taken as a blow at the Catholic Action organization which, the church contends, is religious and social, not political. The Catholic Action groups were, however, dissolved and their clubrooms sealed. This, the Pope contends, violated the Lateran Treaty and Concordat between the Vatican and the Italian Government.

HAS HIS WIFE AND MAN ARRESTED IN LOUISVILLE

Dr. L. V. Dowdall Given Custody of Son and Couple Are Cleared.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 4.—Mrs. Irene Dowdall, wife of Dr. L. Vaughn Dowdall, an osteopath, 2320 South Grand boulevard, St. Louis, and James T. Laurie, Louisville cost accountant, were arrested early today at the instance of Dr. Dowdall, but were cleared of charges in police court when Mrs. Dowdall agreed to surrender custody of their young son to Dr. Dowdall.

The osteopath climaxed a week of investigation by a woman private detective by having his wife, from whom he has been estranged for two years and Laurie arrested upon their return at 4 a. m. from a dance to a rooming house where they lived in separate rooms.

Through her Louisville attorney, Mrs. Dowdall said she was granted a divorce from Dr. Dowdall several years ago and remarried him, but left him two years ago and came to Louisville to work as a stenographer. The child is at the home of her parents, near Jerseyville, Ill.

Dr. Dowdall came to Louisville a week ago and employed the private detective to shadow his wife. John B. Martin, St. Louis lawyer retained by Dr. Dowdall, was present when the doctor called police to arrest his wife and Laurie.

40 PROPERTY OWNERS OPPOSE MERAMEC ST. WIDENING. Meeting Held With Aldermanic Committee After Whistleblower Is Taken Under Advice.

The widening and extension of Meramec street from Gravois avenue through to Oleatha avenue, at an estimated cost of $100,000, was opposed by a group of 40 property owners who would come within a special benefit district, at a meeting with the Aldermanic Streets Committee at City Hall last night. After arguments had been heard the Streets Committee took the matter under advisement.

The bill provides that from Gravois to Chippewa street, 10 feet would be taken from each side of Meramec street to make a 60-foot thoroughfare. From Chippewa to Morganford road, a new 80-foot street would be opened up, principally through vacant territory, and from Morganford to Oleatha avenue, a new 60-foot street would be made.

Persons favoring the measure were absent from the meeting, but some of those in the protesting group favor improvement of the street without the widening features. A resolution opposing the plan was adopted by the Gravois District Association was introduced in the meeting.

More than 400 season tickets for the Symphony concerts next winter have been sold to new subscribers by the women's committee, and virtually all the old subscribers have renewed their subscriptions. This report by Manager Gaines and Mrs. H. Blakely Collins, chairman of the women's committee, was made at a meeting of the executive committee of the St. Louis Symphony Society yesterday at Hotel Jefferson.

Memorial resolutions were adopted for Frederick Fischer, assistant conductor, who died April 17.

William C. Vanderbilt, unemployed laborer who killed his wife and fatally wounded himself yesterday morning in a riot in City Hospital at 2:10 p. m. His body is unclaimed at the morgue.

Mrs. Vanderbilt's body was claimed by her son, Frank Glenz, 2606 Homestead avenue, and she will be buried Friday. If there is no claimant for Vanderbilt's body within two weeks, he will be buried in potter's field.

Vanderbilt had been employed one day a week since January and had been receiving from $2.50 to $3 a week from the Salvation Army. A worker for the Salvation Army found him lying on a bed beside his wife yesterday with a razor in his hand, conscious but unable to talk. He had slashed his wife's throat and then his own.

WHEN you set out to buy tires, what do you expect to get for your money?

What nearly everyone really wants is most miles and the utmost in safety at the lowest possible price.

That being your objective, which tire should you buy?

If the experience of 20,000,000 motorists means anything, you should certainly buy Goodyears.

But if you try to puzzle through the welter of statistics on thicknesses, weights and diameters you lose the main issue and are as much at sea as ever.

A difference of two or three one-thousandths of an inch in the width of a tire carcass is no guarantee against blowouts.

It's what the carcass is made of and how it's made that counts.

Longer wear is not a matter of logarithms.

The one and only reliable guide for you to follow is the seasoned preference of the public.

And that preference is overwhelmingly for Goodyear.

This fact expressed year after year by Goodyear's great leadership is concretely told again in the findings of an impartial investigation by the Bureau of Business Research of a great University that asked 205,000 car owners this simple question:

QUESTION: "Regardless of price, convenience, etc., what make of tire do you consider the BEST tire made?"

There's the only buying guide that means anything to you car owners.

With Goodyear quality priced so low, why not avail yourself of the long mileage, safety and the good looks that have made Goodyear reputation?

HOW MUTES USE ARTIFICIAL VOICES TOLD BY DOCTOR

Dr. W. W. Morrison of New York Addresses Throat, Nose and Ear Specialists.

While most of the papers presented yesterday at the opening session of the American Laryngological, Rhinological & Otolological Society's annual meeting, at the Coronado Hotel, were of a technical nature, one dealt with the production of voice and speech following total removal of the larynx, or essential speech organ.

Dr. W. Wallace Morrison of New York delivered it as a thesis as a candidate for the society. He pointed out that a constantly increasing number of persons are undergoing removal of the larynx for the arrest of cancer, which is fairly common in that organ, especially among men.

Left without a larynx, a person must communicate his wants by signs or writing, unless he is taught to make other organs serve as a substitute in the production of speech. The result of such a substitute Dr. Morrison called a "pseudo-voice." Comparatively few persons so far have achieved a mastery of such a voice, and most of them speak in husky tones, as with a bad cold, but they are enabled to live virtually normally.

The most common device for the aid of a person lacking the larynx has been some form of artificial larynx. There are a number of these, of varying degrees of perfection, some of them being dubbed "tin whistles," but there are serious objections to the artificial means.

Voices for Voiceless.
Only during the last three decades, Dr. Morrison said to the society, has it been realized that the voiceless could be educated to produce a pseudo-voice. The surgeon, in removing the larynx, should be careful to leave physical conditions favorable for this object. The varieties of pseudovoice, he listed as pseudo-whispered or true buccal (mouth) speech; pharyngeal pseudo-voice; esophageal pseudo-voice and "stomach" pseudo-voice.

It is necessary to develop a vicious lung or air chamber and a vicarious pseudo-glottis, the latter a substitute for the organ in the larynx causing vibration. The substitute "lung" must be capable of drawing in air and expelling it into the pseudo-glottis, the result being audible vibrations. Sites for the "lung," Dr. Morrison explained, are the mouth, the pharynx, the esophagus and the cardiac end of the stomach. He told also of a number of sites for a pseudo-glottis, lying above these air chambers, such as a spot between the base of the tongue and the back wall of the pharynx.

Most patients who have suffered the loss of the larynx can be taught a satisfactory pseudo-voice. Dr.
Morrison declared. Many of them, largely by their own efforts, he said, become quite expert in time, and "a few attain marvelous results, producing almost without conscious effort a pseudo-voice strikingly resembling the normal voice, and capable of sufficient modulation of pitch to enable them to sing." Not very many persons in the world are known to have achieved this ability to sing a few notes.

No Fixed Procedure.
The course of therapy, he went on, should begin as soon as the operative wound is soundly healed, but previously the patient should not attempt to talk. While there is no fixed plan of procedure, Dr.
Morrison said a start could be made by endeavoring to find some sound the patient can make and then build up from there, after explaining the patient's organic mechanism to him. It is essential, the doctor continued that the patient understand the difference between his normal respiration, which used to supply the air for speech, and the substitute mechanism for swallowing and expelling air for his pseudo-voice. Unless the normal respiration is suspended during production of the pseudo-voice there is likely to be a rush of air from the trachea, rendering the pseudo-voice unintelligible.

Next the patient must exercise the organs of his new voice; one authority has suggested a certain manner of smoking as an aid in this. Then the patient practices forming the explosive consonants
"p," "t" and "k," followed by formation of vowel sounds with these consonants, such as "pa," "pe,"
"pi," "po" and "pu." Sometimes Dr. Morrison said it helps for the patient to take carbonated water or an effervescent powder; when the resulting gas is eructated from the stomach the patient tries to use it in producing syllables.

Soon the patient can form one-syllable words, especially those consisting with g, d, k, p, b and t. When he can say words of two or more syllables, he tries short sentences.
He is encouraged to try to vary the pitch of his new voice by holding his head in various positions, thus changing the tensile in his pseudo-glottis. He should not make his practice periods too long at first.
Dr. Morrison said the time for learning the production of a pseudo-voice may vary from three or four weeks to several months.

In the mouth and pharynx, throughout the muscular elevation of the floor of the mouth and the tongue, and contraction of the pharyngeal wall.
The resulting sounds are consonants, constituting an imperfect, toneless speech, which is hard to understand and tires the patient.
True vowel sounds cannot be produced for lack of a pseudo-glottis.
Most patients acquire the ability to make sounds in this way spontaneously, but this is a hindrance in the acquisition of a better voice, the doctor declared. The pharyngeal pseudo-voice, he said, is usually fairly satisfactory but is rough and hoarse.

In the esophageal pseudo-voice,
"the entire mechanism lies within the esophagus, which seems destined by nature to act as an almost perfect vicarious air chamber." To take in air for this means of voice, the patient must put a strong pull upon a muscle at the mouth of the esophagus, by con-acting certain muscles, pulling forward the hyo-bone. Simultaneously the patient performs short, jerking contractions of the diaphragm with the chest wall held fixed, and vibrations are caused at the mouth of the esopa-

gus. Thus the patient speaks.
As to the "stomach" pseudovoice, Dr. Morrison asserted it remained debatable whether the air bubble normally present at the cardiac end of the stomach could act as a vicar' us air chamber.
The annual meeting of the Society of Progressive Oral Advocates was convened today, in conjunction with the other society.

HUSSEIN, ONCE KING OF THE HEDJAZ, DIES

He Started Revolt of Arabs Against Turkey During World War.

By the Associated Press.
JERUSALEM, June 4.—Former King Hussein of the Hedjaz, one of the most romantic figures in the Arab revolt against Turkey during the World War, died at dawn today at Amman after a long illness. He was 75 years old.

It was in this Arab revolt which Hussein started that the famous Lawrence of Arabia played so prominent a part, working chiefly with Hussein's son Feisal, now King of Iraq.

Hussein was the central figure in the Pan-Arab movement which sought to include Palestine in a federation of Arab states under his rule.

The former king, who lost his throne in the Hedjaz to the Chieftain Ibn Saud, in 1924, will be buried in Jerusalem. It is likely that interment will be near the Mosque of Omar near which Mohammed Ali, Indian Moslem leader, is buried.

From 1916 to 1924 Hussein was king of the Hedjaz. He was compelled to abdicate by Ibn Saud, Emir of Nejd and King of the Wahabites, who later absorbed Hedjaz. Hussein was then exiled to Cyprus where he lived until late last year when he became seriously ill and was brought to Amman.

In 1924, after the Turkish republic abolished the Caliphate, King Hussein was proclaimed Caliph by the Moslems of Hedjaz, Iraq, Transjordan and Palestine. For a brief time he was the outstanding figure of the Arab world.

When he was deposed as King of Hedjaz, Hussein was still discussing with the British Government the terms of an Anglo-Hedjaz treaty which he refused to sign unless it included the recognition of Palestine as an Arab country.

Some months ago Hussein was reported to be writing a history of the Arab revolt against Turkey during the World War. At the time of the 1929 disturbances in Palestine, Hussein made a statement in which he bewailed the misfortunes in Palestine and recalled that "but for my intervention on behalf of Palestine I would not be a miserable exile now."

LEGISLATURE KILLS 10 BILLS FOR TAX RELIEF IN CHICAGO

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 4.—

The State Legislature yesterday politely turned down Chicago's request for an extension of credit. What the city wanted—as expressed by Mayor Cermak—was the passage of 10 bills enabling a revision of muddled taxing bodies.

"Unless Chicago gets aid from the General Assembly at once," he told the Revenue Committee of the House, "I don't know what we'll do. To wait for a special session will be too late. We now owe $6,000,000, and we have only $150,000 in the treasury."

The committee voted, 16 to 11, to postpone consideration of the bills for one week. That was tantamount to killing them, since the session is to end June 20.

The Mayor told the committee that Chicago and its Board of Education together needed about $200,000,000 to meet pressing obligations.

"Banks have notified us," he said, "they will not honor city tax anticipation warrants. With $6,000,000 city employees unpaid, depression is intensified. There are more than 415 tax levying and spending agencies in Chicago. Consolidation is necessary. Taxing and revenue systems must be combined."

GIRL, 8, CHASING BALL HIT BY AUTO; SKULL FRACTURED

Private Watchman Suffers Broken Leg in Collision of Two Machines.

Rosemary Parks, 8 years old, suffered a skull fracture yesterday afternoon when she ran into the street in front of her home, 2807 Howard street, chasing a ball, and was struck by the automobile of James Werner, 2916 Madison street. Thomas Grogan, 66-year-old private watchman, 4288 Botanical avenue, was treated at City Hospital for a broken leg after an automobile driven by his granddaughter, Miss Mary Bentrup, with whom he was riding, collided with the machine of Edward Tepper, 4417 Nebraska avenue, at Russell boulevard and California avenue.

MEXICO DISAPPROVES EFFORT TO DRIVE JEWS FROM COUNTRY

MEXICO CITY, June 4.—The Government today made known its disapproval of a campaign conducted by a National League of Merchants to drive Mexico's 20,000 Jews from the country.

Secretary of the Interior Carlos Riva Palacio said that demands for deportation of Jewish traders had no legal foundation. With few exceptions, he said, they entered the country legally and there is no constitutional provision to prevent them from residing and doing business here.

Curtis Home, Weighs His Chances.

By the Associated Press.
TOPEKA, Kan., June 4.—Vice President Curtis returned home today for a month to make a survey of the political situation in Kansas before deciding whether he will seek another vice presidential term or his old seat in the Senate. "I won't be able to answer that question until next winter," he said when asked whether he would be a candidate for the Republican nomination for the Senate seat now occupied by a Democrat, Senator George McGill.

TO DISCUSS DEVELOPMENT OF UPPER MISSISSIPPI

Nine-Foot Channel to Be Considered by Farm and Business Representatives at Meeting June 19.

The need for a standard channel in the Upper Mississippi, and means of fully utilizing the present "narrow-gauge" six-foot channel will be discussed at a waterway conference June 19 at Davenport, Ia., to which the Mississippi Valley Association has invited business, farm and civic organizations from the upper valley and shippers from other links of the inland river system.

Improving the Upper Mississippi to the nine-foot standard of the system was authorized by Congress last year, with an initial appropriation of $7,500,000 toward the estimated total cost of $100,000,000. Speakers will include Lieutenant-Colonel George R. Spaulding of St. Louis, division engineer in charge of channel improvement on all the river system above and including the Ohio; Cleveland A. Newton of St. Louis, general counsel of the association; its president, W. R. Dawes of Chicago, and G. C. Webber of Minneapolis, president of the Upper Mississippi Valley Barge Line Co.

VOLUNTARILY BACK IN PRISON WHEN HE ESCAPED IN 1893

66-Year-Old Grandfather Walks 90 Miles to Finish Two-Year Term.

By the Associated Press.
LINCOLN, Neb., June 4.—Thirty-eight years ago a young man escaped over the wall of the Nebraska State Penitentiary.

Today the same man, now a 66-year-old grandfather, was back in the prison, having voluntarily surrendered in order, he said, to keep a promise "made to his Maker."

Charles E. Johnson, the man, walked 90 miles from his former home in Oakland, Neb., to serve out seven months of a two-year term on a charge of robbery.

JEWS SEEK $500,000 FOR SOCIAL WELFARE

Aaron Waldheim Will Head Campaign to Be Made for Fund in October.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Jewish Federation of St. Louis at Hotel Chase last night it was decided to make an appeal during the week of Oct. 25 to carry on the Federation's social service activities during 1932. Aaron Waldheim, president of the Jewish Hospital, will be chairman of the drive.

Of the $500,000 to be collected, $400,000 is to go towards the regular annual budgets of the 14 organizations supported by the Federation, $50,000 to make up the deficit incurred during 1931 for special unemployment relief, and the remainder for anticipated emergency relief for the coming year.

Julius Glaser, president of the Jewish Federation, issued the call for last night's conference. In opening the meeting Glaser outlined the increased needs of the various agencies affiliated with Federation, and depicted the fact that so little can be done in times of such great need.

"Unless we raise additional funds next fall," said Glaser, "we may have to cut down on some of our activities. We cannot do less than we are doing now for family relief, for child care, for old people nor for health measures. Where then can we save, unless it is in the department of education and recreation? And we are reluctant to curtail those important activities. The only remedy is to increase our income."

Others who spoke and pledged their co-operation were Edwin R. Meisner, Robert Mayer, Edward G. Platt, Emil S. Strauss and Aaron Fuller. Advisory Committee on Publicity: Max Koenigsberg, Joseph Ratt and Chester Fettel. Preparation of necessary lists: Jesse Wolfert, Benjamin Shifrin, Barney Grosberg, M. Erwin Fry, Bernie Goldsmith and Sam Hamburg.

GOAT ISLAND GIVEN BACK ITS OLD SPANISH NAME

Track in San Francisco Bay Now to Be Known as Yerba Buena Island.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—The old Spanish name, Yerba Buena, has been restored by the United States Geographic Board to the island in San Francisco Bay now known as Goat Island.

John J. Cameron, secretary of the board, announced the decision that concluded a long series of demands for the change.

"We were reluctant to change the name," Cameron said, "because there must be stability, and the name Goat Island was officially adopted in 1895. We are convinced, however, that the people have now made up their minds to use the old Spanish name. The decision was unanimous."

The name Goat Island apparently originated during the 1850's. Cameron said legend is that sailors who rounded Cape Horn and progressed up to San Francisco Bay would hold goat fights on the island just opposite the city of San Francisco.
Thomas H. Dowling, claimant to the ownership of the island in 1859, said he was engaged in purchasing, selling and shipping goat and sheep hides on the island.

FOREIGN TRADE SHOWS GAIN December-February Figures Given by Port of New York Authority.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 4.—"Some improvement" in foreign trade in the period from December to February as compared to the corresponding time last year, is announced in a bulletin of the Port of New York authority. March figures, the bulletin states, show trade to be 23 per cent less than in a similar period in 1930, but this is a smaller decline than occurred in the previous quarter.

Of the total foreign trade of the United States, 42 per cent passed through the Port of New York during March. A gain of 16 per cent in the number of passengers going abroad was noted, offset by a decrease of one-third in arrivals. A 1930 analysis by the Port of New York authority shows that the port handled 36 per cent of the total exports of merchandise produced in this country and 68 per cent of American industrial machinery. Soviet Russia was the principal buyer of industrial machinery last year.

PERSONAL GLIMPSES OF AN EX-PRESIDENT

Usually Silent Coolidge Likes to Talk to "Doggies"—Careful in Dress.

(Copyright, 1931, by Associated Press.) NORTHAMPTON, Mass., June 4. Calvin Coolidge, commonly pictured as one of America's most silent and uncommunicative men, likes to talk to his dogs.

On his stroll about the grounds of his recently acquired home, "The Beeches," he is frequently accompanied by "Beauty," a handsome white collie. Neighbors have often heard him talking to the dog.

Some time back the former President owned another white collie, "Rob Roy," a White House gift. But Rob Roy was deaf, and Coolidge once remarked to friends that this was a serious disadvantage, for he couldn't talk to the dog and feel that he was being understood.

The former President calls his pets "doggies." When he bought "The Beeches" he told reporters the extensive grounds would afford "a better place for my doggies to play." The reporters hesitated to quote this word verbatim. None the less, "doggies" is what was said.

On automobile rides Coolidge will often take notice of some particularly fine dog in the street and remark to Mrs. Coolidge or others in the car: "There's a pretty doggie."

Coolidge's life in this town is run on schedule. He adheres strictly to certain articles of diet for breakfast, dinner and supper. But he likes to eat between meals. He nibbles candy while working in his office and Mrs. Coolidge keeps a jar of small, hard, brightly-colored candies filled on his desk. If he stays home for a day, due to some business that interrupts his usual schedule, she usually brings him in some food or a bit of candy.

But to return to his regular diet: breakfast, with rare exceptions, is an extremely simple meal for him; consisting only of cooked porridge, bacon—not crisp, either—and coffee. As a rule, he does not eat fruit in the morning, nor does he care for bread, muffins or toast. Just porridge, bacon and coffee.

At noon he has "dinner," in the old-fashioned New England way. And it is a hearty meal. Supper, usually is very light.

Coolidge enjoys an afternoon nap from 1 o'clock until 2 o'clock. Nor does it make any difference if the Coolidges are entertaining guests for dinner. After the meal, Coolidge smokes a cigar, and then often announces simply, "I'll take a nap!"

Occasionally, when he has been called back to the office on important business directly after dinner, he has been known to transact the business, and then quietly fall asleep in his chair. The office force keeps as quiet as possible, and he sleeps on until his hour is up.

His business includes more than meeting visitors and dictating replies to such letters of his voluminous mail as require his personal attention. He handles all his household financial affairs himself.

Friends have observed an unusual flair on the part of Coolidge for new suits this season. Each is a complete outfit too, with socks and tie that match, and a hat that harmonizes with the suit.

LATE DAVID BELASCO HONORED AT SAN FRANCISCO CEREMONY

Playwright's Brothers, Mayor and Florence Reed Present; Actors' Guild Chaplain Gives Invocation, by the Associated Press. SAN FRANCISCO, June 4.—The city hall rotunda was crowded last night with those who wished to honor the memory of the late David Belasco. The brothers of Belasco, Walter and Solie, sat together. Next to Solie was Hobart Bosworth, movie actor, and Mayor Rossi next to Walter. Across the aisle sat Florence Reed, actress. The Very Rev. Dean Gresham of Grace Cathedral, chaplain of the San Francisco Actors' Guild, pronounced the invocation, and after the organ rendered Massenet's "Elegy," Mayor Rossi delivered an address.

Miss Reed read a poem written by Clay M. Greene, collaborator with Belasco in some of his plays, and Bosworth recalled his 50 years association with the playwright. The memorial services were broadcast over a coast-to-coast radio system.

SOME DROUTH LOANS REPAID

Hyde Says Many Farmers Have Settled in Full or in Part. By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, June 4.—Secretary of Agriculture Hyde said yesterday that many farmers had repaid in full or in part drouth loans made from the Government's $67,000,000 emergency fund. He gave no figures.

Hyde pointed out that several thousand borrowers had found they did not need the full amount and returned several instalments while others repaid loans with the proceeds of early fruit and vegetable crops. Slightly more than $41,000,000 has been lent to drouth sufferers to plant this year's crops. All must be repaid by next November.

State Medical Examinations

TAXI DRIVER ROBBED OF $9 BY PASSENGERS

Pair Arrested Few Minutes After Stealing Cab and Cap of Chauffeur.

Benjamin Zlotnick, 2502A Arlington avenue, a taxicab driver, was robbed of $9 by two fares he had driven to Kingshighway and Cates avenue last night. Put out of his cab and robbed of chauffeur's cap, he notified police immediately and policemen in a radio-equipped automobile overtook and captured the robbers a few minutes later at Twenty-first street and Washington avenue.

The prisoners said they were Carl Donath and Fred Kreth, Chicago waiters, who had been here a short time. They confessed, police reported, that they held up Elmer Tobin, a taxicab chauffeur, Tuesday night, obtaining $10.

Other holdups: Filling station, Blair avenue and Branch street, $35; confectionery of Don Belcoff, 4148 Easton avenue, $38; grocery of Sylvester Schure, 1115 North Spring avenue, $75.

LAWYER SON TO SEE FATHER RECEIVE HIS DEGREE IN LAW

Charles Goldman, 62-year-old furniture salesman, will be graduated in law tonight at exercises of the City College of Law and Finance at Muehle Temple, 3321 Lindell boulevard. His son, Alvin Goldman, who has practiced law since his graduation from the same school 11 years ago, will see him get his degree of Bachelor of Law.

The older Goldman is realizing a boyhood ambition in his graduation, although he will not take the bar examination until next fall and has no immediate intention of abandoning the furniture business. "Since I was a 14-year-old boy, clerking in a lawyer's office in Cincinnati," he said, "my dream has been to become an attorney. I thought then that a lawyer was the greatest man in the world and I guess I haven't been thoroughly disillusioned yet. The need of earning a livelihood interfered with my ambition and so I did the next best thing and urged my son to study law. Four years ago I decided I could make my dream come true by studying at night. My son hasn't helped me a bit—I wanted to feel I'd done it on my own merits."

Goldman resides at 7317 Northmoor drive, University City. He has been in the furniture business for 40 years.

New Housing Corporation Head.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Theodore G. Risley, solicitor of the Labor Department, has been named president of the United States Housing Corporation, succeeding Mrs. Lulah T. Andrews, resigned. Secretary Doak said Risley would serve until July 13 when the Labor Department is expected to take over the work of liquidating the housing corporation. The corporation was formed in 1917 to provide housing facilities for Government employees.

MAPLEWOOD SCHOOL HEAD'S RESIGNATION WAS FORCED

President of Board Says There Was Misunderstanding About Teachers' Salaries.

Following the selection of George Earl Dille of Chillicothe, Mo., as Superintendent of Maplewood Schools, it became known yesterday that the resignation of the present school head, Joshua Richmond, was forced, not voluntary.

Dr. Pierre M. Brossard, president of the school board, said that he and Ralph Townsend were outvoted by the four other members when they wanted to renew Richmond's contract, which expires July 1. Brossard said there had been a misunderstanding about an increase in salaries of $5 a month for five teachers, ordered by Richmond. The president said the School Board had ordered the increase but that some members did not so understand their action.

Richmond has been Superintendent in the Maplewood District, which includes some Richmond Heights schools, for 15 years. He has been a teacher for 40 years. The schools have an enrollment of about 3000. His resignation was announced May 2.

Barth, president of the Board of Education, as principal speaker. Dr. David C. Todd, a member of the board, will address the Stowe Teachers' College class at 8 o'clock next Wednesday evening at the Summer High School auditorium.

The schedule for the high schools begins at 8 o'clock next Wednesday evening, when commencement exercises of the class of '98 at Central High School will be held at the Beaumont High School auditorium. Howard G. Cook of the Board of Education will speak. This year's class will be the 126th at Central, making the total of graduates of the school 10,175.

Dr. Solon Cameron, another board member, will address the class of Beaumont High School at 4 o'clock next Thursday afternoon at the school auditorium. A roll of 268 will be graduated at that time.

The two other white high schools, Cleveland and Roosevelt, will hold exercises at 8 o'clock Thursday evening in their own auditoriums, where board members will speak. A class of 209 will finish at Cleveland, where Ben Wiedle will speak, and a class of 407 at Roosevelt, where Howard G. Cook is the speaker.

Exercises for Vashon (Negro) High School will be held at 8 o'clock Wednesday night with Mrs. Elias Michael speaking to the class of '98, and exercises at Sumner High School, also a Negro school, will follow at 8 o'clock on Thursday evening, where Mrs. Laura Kroeger, the other woman member of the board, will speak. Seventy students will graduate at Sumner High School.

CROWLEY'S COMPANION GETS DEATH FOR MURDER OF GIRL

Rudolph C. Durringer, Convicted of Killing Virginia Brannen, Dance Hall Hostess.

By the Associated Press.
 NEW YORK, June 4.—Rudolph C. Durringer, 25 years old, Ossining truck driver, was convicted early today of murder, first degree, for the killing of Virginia Brannen, dance hall hostess. Justice Cohn said he would pronounce the mandatory sentence next Monday which will condemn Durringer to the electric chair in Sing Sing prison in his home town.

Miss Brannen, who came to New York from Bangor, Me., was shot during an automobile ride in the Bronx, April 27. Durringer said he shot her accidentally when she clutched his revolver. He then drove to Yonkers and tossed her body behind a hedge.

Another member of the automobile party was Francis (Two-Gun) Crowley, now in the Sing Sing deathhouse for the slaying of a Long Island policeman. They were captured in a Manhattan apartment after a fight with 150 policemen, armed with tear gas and machine guns.

PROPOSAL TO REDUCE SIZE OF BATTLESHIPS
French Committee Approves Plan for 3 Craft of 23,333 Tons.
By the Associated Press.
PARIS, June 4.—A movement to reduce the size of battleships from the 35,000 tons, authorized by the Washington naval treaty, to a much lower tonnage, took on new force yesterday during a committee meeting of the French Chamber of Deputies.
Construction of three 23,333-ton ships of the line instead of two ships of 35,000 tonnage during 1931-32 was advocated by Charles Dumont, Minister of Marine. Only one of these would be built during 1931-32.
The Finance Committee approved his proposal and also ratified the building program for 1931-32, which includes one 23,333-ton vessel, two secondary cruisers, one coastwise transport and a dispatch boat.
The Minister of Marine indicated that the general total of construction for 1931-32 would be about $45,000,000 for 70,000 tons of ships, in addition to about $800,000 left over from the previous budget.
By his statement today, Dumont showed he is following the British trend which for some time has been in favor of reduction of the size of battleships. It is thought the question will arise again during the general disarmament conference in Geneva next year. A discussion is likely then although nations that signed the Washington treaty are authorized to build 35,000 tons ships until 1936, when the treaty is renewable.
Both Great Britain and France hope to get an international agreement in 1936, limiting the tonnage of ships of the line.

Freshness is only one step in getting GOOD COFFEE

We've learned a lot about coffee in the last 72 years. And the most important thing is . . . that your best coffee is the coffee you like best . . . no matter what it costs or how it is packed.

Of course you want your coffee fresh. That's as important as having a coffee that exactly suits your taste. So A & P has made natural freshness of newly-roasted coffee—the out-of-the-oven freshness that cannot be imitated—a prime essential of A & P Coffee Service. And we are able, as no other coffee merchant is able, to guarantee this natural freshness. You see, we sell more coffee by far than any other organization. The coffee sells so fast that there's no time for any of it to become stale.

But that's only one point to consider. We've found what people like in coffee—in its flavor, body, aroma and strength. And we found years ago that no one blend can please everyone. So we developed, as you know, three different

He Was One of Founders of Medical College, Now Part of St. Louis U.

Funeral services for Dr. Eustathius A. Chancellor, a founder of Beaumont Medical College, practicing physician here for 40 years and former secretary of St. Louis Medical Society, will be held at 12:30 p. m. tomorrow at the Collins chapel, 928 North Grand boulevard.

Dr. Chancellor, who was 77 years old and resided at 9327 Devonshire avenue, died of heart disease yesterday at Barnes Hospital after an illness of two months. He is survived by two brothers, A. C. Chancellor of Columbus, Ga., and T. S. Chancellor of Atlanta. He had never married.

Although the son of a physician, Dr. James Edgar Chancellor, he did not turn to medicine until after a period in business and three years' study in civil engineering. He was born at Spotsylvania Court-house, Va., and received his early education at private schools and the University of Virginia.

He spent a few months as book-keeper in a railroad office at Columbus, Ga., but resigned on account of his health and returned to the University of Virginia to study engineering. In the fall of 1874 he began his medical studies and in 1876 was graduated with honors. After postgraduate work at the University of Pennsylvania, he was appointed to the faculty of the University of Maryland, where he continued his studies and received a second doctor of medicine degree.

For a time he practiced medicine with his father at Charlottesville, and then came to St. Louis and opened an office at 518 Olive street. Five years later he assisted in organizing Beaumont Medical College, now part of St. Louis University School of Medicine, and served as professor of venereal disease from 1885 to 1890.

In 1883 he became a private in the Missouri National Guard, and in seven years became medical director of the first brigade, with rank of lieutenant-colonel. He was a charter member of the Association of Military Surgeons, and led to the selection of St. Louis as the place for its first meeting in 1892. In 1896 he represented it at a convention in London, and he represented the St. Louis Medical Society at the Pan-American Medical Congress in Mexico City.

WRONG INTERPRETATION PUT ON LAW IN NEWS STORY

Intended Residence of Parties to Marriage, Later Annulled, Not Material.

In an account of the annulment of the marriage of Mrs. Katherine Larabee Winkelmeyer and Arthur Winkelmeyer, a Washington University dental student, in Wednesday's Post-Dispatch, it was stated that the laws of Illinois, where the marriage took place, would make a marriage void if the contracting parties came from another state and had no intention of residing in Illinois.

It should have been stated that persons coming from another state, and with the intention of avoiding legal restrictions of the State from which they came, could not contract a legal marriage in Illinois if the same marriage would not be legal in their own state.

In this case, Winkelmeyer, who was only 19 years old and could not be married legally without his parents' consent in Missouri, could not be legally married in Illinois under the same circumstances, according to the law. The law states in part, "if such marriage would be void if contracted in such other state or jurisdiction," it would be void in Illinois. The mere fact of residence outside the State, as indicated in the news item, would have no effect on the legality of the marriage.

WISCONSIN LEGISLATURE VOTES COMPULSORY OLD AGE RELIEF

Directs That All Counties Grant Assistance; Measure Goes to Governor.

By the Associated Press.
MADISON, Wis., June 4.—The Assembly passed the Groves income tax bill, raising about $3,800,000 in State revenue, by a vote of 64 to 13, last night. The bill was sent to the Senate, where a bitter contest is predicted.

The bill, originally drafted to raise but $800,000 through an increase in the tax on incomes of $4,000 or more, was amended to carry a surtax.

All counties will be compelled to grant old-age assistance after July 1, 1932, under the terms of a bill approved by the Senate, 19 to 7. The measure now goes to the Governor.

Introduced by Assemblyman Oscar Schmieg, Appleton, the bill permits counties to grant financial aid to persons more than 70 years old rather than confine them to charitable institutions. Aid is limited to $1 a day, and the State pays one-third the cost. The bill gives counties the authority to levy taxes, if necessary for the payment of old-age assistance.

THREATENING LETTER TAKEN FROM MAN ARRESTED IN RAID

Message Told Grocer to Contribute to Defense Fund of "Friend" in Detroit.

Joseph Ditrappani, who said he was a grocer, 43 years old, 5043 Wells avenue, was arrested in the basement of a saloon at 335 De Baliviere avenue last night by policemen raiding the place. The proprietor, who said he was John Clemens, also was arrested when 13 bottles of home-brew were found in an icebox.

Ditrappani tore up a letter when police found him, but they pasted the fragments together and had it translated. The communication stated a friend of Ditrappani was going to trial in Detroit June 17, and demanded a contribution to his defense fund. In case of failure to pay, the letter-writer threatened to turn Ditrappani over to police.

STILL DESTROYED BY RAIDERS

Operators of Plant at Seckmann, Mo., Make Escape.

A large still at Seckmann, Mo., 26 miles south of St. Louis in Jefferson County, was raided yesterday afternoon by prohibition agents under Assistant Administrator James Dillon. The plant was destroyed by the agents and a new Ford automobile found at the scene confiscated.

Although the still, with several thousand gallons of mash, was in operation at the time the raiders arrived, a lookout near the scene had warned the tenders, all of whom fled through the woods and escaped. The mash was dumped into a small stream and the still itself wrecked.

BANK AT STOCKYARDS WINS $22,450 JUDGMENT ON NOTE

Jury in U. S. Court Decides Against Four Former Directors of Old Broadway Trust Co.

A verdict of $22,450.27 in favor of the National Stockyards National Bank of National City, Ill., against four former directors of the old Broadway Trust Co. was returned yesterday by a jury in Federal Judge Faria's Court. The amount represents $21,694.61, plus interest, due on a note signed by the four in April, 1928.

The defendants are L. G. Desobry, J. A. Hafner, W. R. Rogers and Fred S. Henderson. Their defense was that they had signed the note to accommodate the East Side bank, taking off its hands a note given by Leopold Grossberg, a real estate dealer and also a director of the Broadway Trust Co. Grossberg killed himself in 1928, leaving obligations in excess of his $350,000 estate.

The amount of the note was originally $32,000, at 5 1/2 per cent interest, but certain credits were allowed in disposing of the collateral which secured it.

The Broadway Trust Co. was absorbed by the United States Bank & Trust Co. on Aug. 1, 1929.

DANCE HALL OWNER LOSES SUIT AGAINST WOOD RIVER

Sought to Enjoin City From Operating Recreation Center Across Street.

By the Associated Press.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 4.—Attempts of Frank Z. Carstens, dance hall proprietor of Wood River, to enjoin the city of Wood River from maintaining a recreation center at its City Park, directly across the street from Carstens' dance hall, were defeated today when the Supreme Court denied him a rehearing of his injunction case. His fight against the recreation center was on the ground it was a business proposition in which the city had no right to engage.

10-STORY FEDERAL BUILDING PLANS WILL GO FORWARD

Pending Action of Congress, Architects Will Design Larger Structure Here.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, June 4.—Pending the action of Congress in increasing the appropriation for the new Federal building in St. Louis to provide a 10-story instead of a seven-story structure, architects have been instructed to proceed with plans for the larger building.

Announcement that the Treasury Department had decided to ask for the increase and that its adoption seemed assured was made by Congressman Cochran and Dyer, who predicted that a contract for the 10-story building would be under way by the time Congress meets.

Pittsburg German Newspaper Sold.

By the Associated Press.
PITTSBURG, Pa., June 4.—The Volksblatt und Freiheitsfreund, one of the three oldest foreign language newspapers in the United States, has been purchased by a Cleveland company which also publishes the Waechter und Anzeiger and the Szabadsag, both in Cleveland. William R. Hopkins, former city manager of Cleveland, heads the group of purchasers. The newspaper was obtained from the Consolidated Press and Printing Co.

"FOR years I was fooled. Thought I had to pay a high-falutin' price for a real insect-killer.

"But I'm not throwing my money away now. I use Black Flag Liquid. I pay less for it—yet it rids my home of pesky flies and mosquitoes quicker than anything I ever used before."

Get Black Flag Liquid! Close windows—spray it into the air. Fill the room with this pure, stainless, pleasant-smelling mist—and the flies drop like rain. Drop quicker, too—because Black Flag Liquid has more powerful killing ingredients. Deadly to moths, roaches, ants and bedbugs, too. Yet harmless to humans. Money-back guarantee. Get Black Flag Liquid to-day—discover the quickest, surest insect-killer—and save! save! save!

©1931, S. F. Co.

P. S. Black Flag comes in Powder form, too. Just as deadly. Kills all insect pests. Many people prefer Black Flag Powder for crawling pests. It stays where you put it—kills pests when they crawl through it.

VINCE DUNDEE 8-TO-5 FAVORITE OVER JEBY IN FIGHT TONIGHT

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 4.—Two middleweights who owe a large part of their importance to the current ratings to victories over Len Harvey, the British champion, are facing each other in a fight tonight to see which one will take another step up the championship ladder. Vince Dundee, the Baltimore lad who is something of a veteran, although he never before has figured in this title tale, and the up-and-coming Ben Juby of New York, meet in the 10-round feature bout.

Dundee, with two victories over Harvey and one over Ray, is a strong favorite at odds of 8 to 5. The winner may or may not earn some recognition as an up-and-coming champion in place of Mickey Walker, now declared null and void because of his failure to defend his title.

Another middleweight 10-round bout is scheduled for the semifinals of the program, Ignacio Ara of Spain meeting Buck McTernan of Pittsburgh.

Winter Defeats Lord, Slattery Beats Lambert In District Golf Meet

By W. J. McGoogan.
Of the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.

MIDLAND VALLEY COUNTRY CLUB, June 4.—Lester Slattery, Crystal Lake Country Club, reached the semifinal round of the sixteenth annual St. Louis district golf tournament with a 2 and 1 victory over Donald Lambert, St. Louis Country Club, in a third round match here this afternoon.

Slattery and Lambert were both in good form, particularly on the greens. Lambert jammed in a 15-foot downhill putt on No. 6 to go one up, then after he had lost No. 7 and No. 8, he sank another long putt on the ninth green for a birdie 4 and a win to make the turn all square.

Slattery pitched a niblick shot over a dead styne to gain a half on the thirteenth green, then won No. 15 to go one up. He captured No. 17 and the match was over.

Bryan Winter, North Hills, joined Slattery in the semi-finals with a 5 and 4 victory over Roger Lord, Algonquin.

Winter played just good enough to win, while Lord was considerably off form, taking an approximately 31 out to a 27 for Winter.

ATHLETES FROM 78 COLLEGES TO TRY FOR HONORS IN TITLE MEET

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, June 4.—Athletes representing 78 colleges from all sections of the country will start the preliminaries in the tenth annual national collegiate track and field meet at Stagg Field University of Chicago, tomorrow afternoon.

On the track, preliminaries are to be held in the two hurdles races, and in the field, in all events except the pole vault and high jump. Southern California, winner of the Eastern intercollegiate title last week-end, is far and away the favorite to retain its national title. If the Trojans perform up to par they may even pass the high score record of 72 points made by Stanford in 1927.

Their chances are further enhanced by the fact that Stanford, which pushed them in the Eastern meet will not be here to compete against them as the final examinations called the coast athletes home. Finals also take out a number of Western conference stars, such as Lee Sentman of Illinois who tied the world's record, in the high hurdles at the Big Ten meet two weeks ago.

Sprint Will Be Feature. The 100-yard dash, always an outstanding event, is one of the features because of the renewal of the rivalry between flying Frank Wykoff of Southern California and Eddie Toland, the colored meteor from Michigan. Toland's time of 9.8 is officially recognized as the world's record but Wykoff has done 9.6 and has beaten the Wolverine.

Topolino of Loyola of New Orleans; Glass of Oklahoma A. & M. are also expected to give the cinders to break the tape if the leaders falter one stride. Vic Williams, also of Southern California, will get another chance at the world's record of 47.4 seconds in the quarter-mile which he tied last week.

Joe Sivak of Butler, defending champion in the mile, will face stiff competition from Ray Putnam, Iowa State; Ralph Hill of Oregon, and R. W. Swartz of Missouri, all of whom can do 4:15 or thereabouts. Hill is credited with a mile in 4:13.3 last year on the Coast.

Three men stand out in the two-mile run, Clark Chamberlain of Michigan State, George Wright of Wisconsin, who recently set the Big Ten record, and Harold Brock, Smith of Indiana. Even without Sentman to defend his title, the hurdles races should be close to record time with Jack Keller of Ohio battling Ernest Faine of Southern California and Bob Lager of Iowa State.

New Marks Are Expected. Field records are probably more apt to fall than track marks if past performances mean anything. The pole vault mark is periled by Bill Graber, Southern California sophomore who was just an inch short of the record last week when he leaped 14 feet 11 1/2 inches. Tom Warner of Northwestern and Vern McDermont of Illinois have never jumped 14 feet, but have flirted with that height for two seasons.

L. E. Boyle, Pennsylvania; Richard Barber of Southern California and Ed Gordon of Iowa are after the 56-foot mark. Eleven of the entries have cleared 24 feet and several of them 25 feet.

In the javelin throw, Kenneth Churchill of California, who bettered 200 feet consistently, may approach the American mark.

Caledonian Meet June 27. The annual athletic meet of the Caledonian Society of St. Louis will be held at Francis Field, June 27. William MacDonald, John W. Moir, Marvin C. Hamilton, Irving H. Gamble, W. Harry Marx, William Watson and Roy J. Keith, are in charge of the carnival.

Flynn, Winner of 116 Ring Bout, A St. Louis Boy

One of the best amateur boxing prospects of the country has been brought to light as a native St. Louisan, in Eddie Flynn, National A. A. U. welterweight champion, a student of dentistry at Loyola University in New Orleans. He graduated from Roosevelt High School two years ago.

Flynn's latest victory was scored last night in New York when he decisively whipped Cesare Desio in the international boxing meet between United States and Italian fighters, in Madison Square Garden.

"You want to watch my boy Eddie," his father, Dennis Flynn of 5815 Cates avenue, told the Post-Dispatch with pride. "He's a real comer. He is only 20 years old, but veteran boxing writers in the South and East are already comparing him with old Mike Gibbons for cleverness."

But unlike Mike Gibbons, Eddie carries a punch of real merit, as Herbie Hahn, member of the St. Louis team in the recent A. A. U. tournament, will testify. Herbie is a shifty boy himself and can take his share of punishment, for an amateur, but Flynn flattened him in the second round in the semifinals of the welterweight division. Flynn went on to win the national title.

Flynn uses his left oftener and with more effect than his right, which he favors on account of an old injury. If anything keeps Flynn from attaining the heights in boxing it will be his little right, experts declare.

Flynn has been away from St. Louis about two years. He went to Florida, and there won the Florida lightweight and welterweight amateur championships. Entering Loyola U. of New Orleans, he immediately cleaned up in the welterweight division, winning the amateur welterweight championship of the South.

Flynn has been fighting frequently, and according to press reports from New York today, has engaged in 116 fights, winning all of them.

A brother, Dennis, also a student at Loyola U., is also an amateur fighter of note in the South. Dennis is a middleweight.

Ringsiders Battle as American Boxing Team Wins From Italians

Special to the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, June 4.—International friendship between Italy and the United States has received little if any impetus through the series of boxing bouts between the amateurs of the two nations.

The first time the teams clashed in Madison Square Garden, each won four bouts, a result that was satisfactory to both sides. Last night they met again and after one of the stormiest times the big battle pit ever has seen the United States came out ahead, five bouts to two, but with the friendly feelings between the ring rivals easily battered.

The first bout went against the Italian flyweight, Edelweiss Rodriguez, and a storm of protest arose from spectators and from the visiting team. Although the decision appeared fair to impartial ringside observers, the crowd of 8000 protested loudly and the indignant Italian boxers marched from the arena.

The spectators took up the battle and several dirt fights broke out in the arena. Ringsiders were subjected to a bombardment of everything throwable, including a couple of small knives. Police finally restored order and after a half hour's delay the Italian boxers were persuaded to continue.

Referee Refused to Return. But Joe Jones, the referee who, with two judges, had voted the decision over Rodriguez to Louis Salica of New York, insisted on dropping out of the picture.

Vincenzo Delli Dotti promptly evened the series by defeating Flavio de Bonis, Boston 118-pounder, but the next four Americans recorded wins to clinch the victory. It was the first time the Italians had lost a team match since they captured the Olympic championship in 1928.

Tony Scarpati, national featherweight champion, next triumphed in easy fashion, defeating Argon-Portaleon in the 128-pound class.

Steve Salak, the southpaw member of the United States squad, turned the tables on Mario Bianchini, Italian welterweight who defeated the Boston boy the first time they fought, and hammered out an easy decision. Salak split Bianchini's right cheek with left-hand smashes in the final round and the Italian badly. The victory gave the United States a lead of three to one.

Eddie Flynn, national amateur welterweight champion from St. Louis, now attending Loyola University of New Orleans, won the fourth victory for the United States to clinch international honors. Flynn easily outpointed the Italian champion, Cesare Desio, in three rounds.

Frank Fullam, New York middleweight added the fifth victory to the Americans' winning total by outclassing Aldo Longinotti of Italy, to win the decision in the 160-pound class.

A Versatile Guy. Of a pitcher named Grimes I will tell. Whom few equalled and none could excel.

This grizzled old spitter Could hit like a Rifter, And pitch like a pitcher as well.

John McGraw has superlative wit, And Burleigh unlimited grit; When Wilson was walked, To the plate Burleigh stalked, And won his own game with a hit.

Gabby Guessed Right. Incidentally, when faced with the problem of whether to put in a pinch hitter or string along with Grimes, the Sarge came through with a nice little exhibition of pinch managing.

But the second guesser, while they may recover from the jolt, will never be the same.

As regards that British open affair it looks as if the Smiths were going to take up where the Joneses left off.

Mac Smith, who did the qualifying rounds in 70 and 71, is only a synthetic American, but we love our adopted sons when they don't go in for rackets and other nefarious sports.

Eddie Brandt of the Braves, who had run his string up to eight victories and no defeats, was at last stopped by the Pirates. Another example of the honesty of baseball.

"Backward Walker Crosses County Lane." BACKWARD, turn backward. Put your best foot backward and you'll be all right. Encircle the globe with reversible feet.

And yourself at the finish you surely will meet. "Pensions to Needy of Detroit." Just in time. Henry must be getting down to his last billion.

"Calls on Hoover to Resign." F. Uncle Sam can't make the grade. Of course, reductions must be made. But who would steer the ship of state if Herb were asked to pull his freight?

Perhaps the idea is to make Charley Curtis take on Herbert's chores as he hasn't much to do, anyway.

However, we believe it would be false economy to fire Herbert. It might be a good idea to chuck some of his commissions and committees overboard, but not Herbert.

Now, take that Wickersham Commission. (Nobody else wants 'em.) It took them a year or so to find out what everybody knew all the time. If all the energy they wasted was harnessed up it would do the work of the power trust without sweating a hair.

Besides, Mr. Hoover is a real economist. His first official act was to scrap the Mayflower and shoe the stable of army horses out.

DEWEY DEFEATS LONG NINE, 12-2, TO ENTER FINAL

Dewey School, champions in Group F, entered the final in the Public School League elimination baseball play by defeating Long School of Group B

DEWEY DEFEATS LONG NINE, 12-2, TO ENTER FINAL

Dewey School, champions in Group F, entered the final in the Public School League elimination baseball play by defeating Long School of Group B, 12 to 2, yesterday afternoon in a game at Sublette Park.

The other semi-final game will be played this afternoon between Ames, leaders in Group G, and Rock Spring, champions of Group E. This game will be played at Sherman Park on grounds No. 1, starting at 4 o'clock.

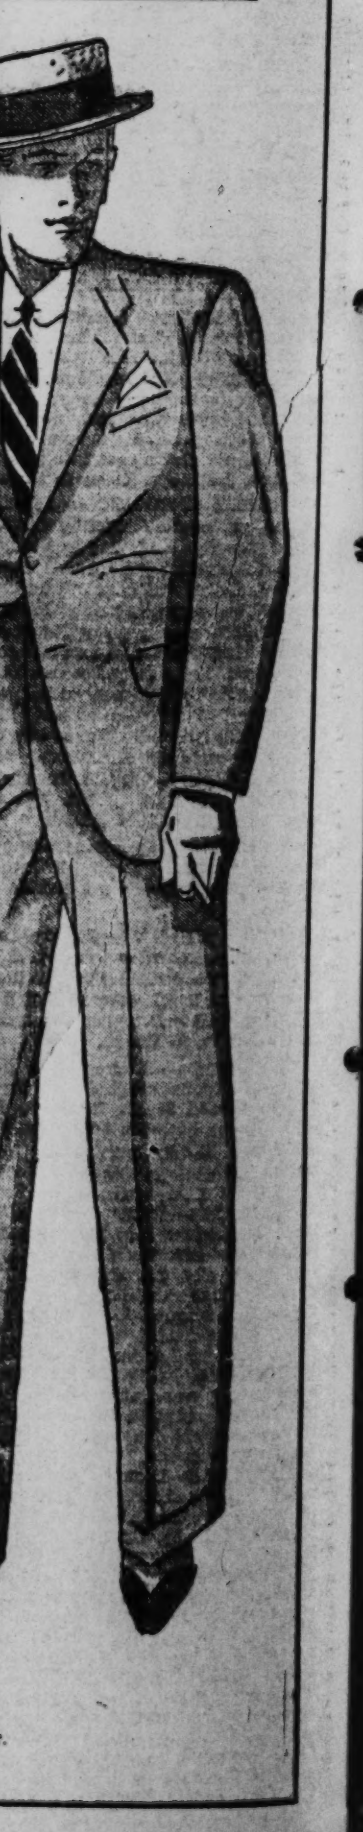

The first game of the final series for the city title will be played Saturday morning, the second game Monday and a third game, if necessary, Wednesday.

Albert Antonucci, star pitcher of Dewey School, was in his usual good form in the semi-final game, striking out 13 and bringing his total for the season to 111 strikeouts. Antonucci pitched six seven-inning games and two five-inning games, or a total of 52 innings. In the seven games he granted 25 hits and walked 17 batters. Roy Nuli, Dewey catcher, has worked in every game.

Harry Fine, first baseman, and John Griffin, second baseman, hit home runs for Dewey.

Van Buren was the starting pitcher for Long, with Meyer as catcher, but Van Buren was batted out in the third and Meyer went to the mound, with Centle catching.

SHIELDS, WOOD, LOTT, VAN RYN NAMED ON U.S. DAVIS CUP TEAM

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 4.—Frank X. Shields and Sidney B. Wood Jr. of New York and George Lott Jr. and John Van Ryn of Philadelphia today were selected by the United States Davis cup committee to represent this country in the international tennis tournament in Paris.

The tennis team is composed of the youthful element of American stars for the first time since Tilden and Johnston brought the cup back from Australia. The probability is that Shields will play singles exclusively, with Wood drawing the other singles assignment, if his play abroad justifies. The Lott-Van Ryn combination will be pointed for the doubles.

Wood and Shields sail tomorrow night on the Ile de France to join their teammates abroad.

Lott and Van Ryn, who have been competing in France, will engage in two international team matches, playing an Austrian team at Vienna June 12-13, and a German team at Berlin, June 12-13-14. The American forces then will be concentrated in England for practice preliminary to participating in the British championships at Wimbledon, June 22 to July 4.

The American team's opponent in the Interzone Davis Cup contest has not yet been decided. Japan, Great Britain and Italy have been outstanding so far in the European zone competition.

The U. S. L. T. A. has delegated Sam Hardy, captain of the Davis Cup team and Watson Washburn to represent this country at the meeting of Davis Cup nations in London June 30. They will oppose the plan for transferring control of the Davis Cup contests from the holding nation to the International Lawn Tennis Federation. The conference also will consider the proposal of South Africa to hold the contest biennially, instead of annually.

BOBBY JONES SAYS HE IS DEFINITELY OUT OF PICTURES

By the Associated Press.
HOLLYWOOD, Cal., June 4.—Bobby Jones, champion of golf champions, turned his back on the village of make-believe today, putting behind him forever the business of motion picture making.

"I'm as definitely out of the movies," the Atlanta (Ga.) lawyer said, "as I am out of competitive golf. I'm in the gallery now at golf tournaments, and in front of the screen at the movies."

Jones is weary from three months of working on a series of educational golf pictures, and intends to go directly to Atlanta. Later he will make a short trip to New York on business. He plans to attend the Ryder Cup matches between American and British professionals at Columbus, O., June 26 and 27, and appear in an exhibition match for charity.

"I wasn't an actor in the pictures," Bobby said. "I was just a golfer, trying very hard to show how great a game it is, and perhaps help people to play it a little bit."

Johnson Released.
Release of Everett Johnson, reduced the Springfield Red Wings' roster to 17 players, including Manager Eddie Dyer. Johnson was serving as utility shortstop and outfit 1.c.

Louisville Gains On St. Paul in Association Race

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, June 4.—St. Paul's front row seat in the American Association pennant show tottered again today. The Colonels from Louisville were doing the shoving. The Colonels gained a full game on the pace-setting Saints yesterday and drew up within a half game of the lead by defeating Columbus, 6 to 4, while Kansas City edged out the Saints, 2 to 1. A repetition of yesterday's fortunes today would reverse the standings of the two teams.

Columbus hammered out 10 hits to duplicate the Colonels' batting punch yesterday, but failed to score them. The Red Birds grabbed an early lead, which Louisville wiped out in the third inning and then wet ahead to stay with three runs in the fifth. Elmer Feter of the Red Birds bagged two doubles and a single, but was unable to score a single run.

The St. Paul-Kansas City game was a pitching duel between Rayne of the Blues and Murphy of the Saints. Dunlap scored the winning run in the sixth, walking, hiking to third on Treadway's single and coming home on an infield out.

Murphy allowed but six hits and three walks while Rayne yielded seven safe blows and two walks—an even pitching battle all the way.

Minneapolis won a fancy-free hitting game from Milwaukee, 9 to 2. High did most of the heavy stick work, driving in four runs with three hits. George Kelly laced out a home run. Bud Connolly, Milwaukee second baseman, edged on Harry's grounder in the fifth inning for his first fielding bobbie in 164 consecutive chances.

ule a wrestling contest on the card. The A. A. U. has sanctioned the contests. Eight bouts of three rounds each are planned.

Far and away the smoothest Eight in its price class

"Rounded" Performance

The Torsiograph, one of the most nearly infallible of automotive laboratory instruments, records accurately the vibration of any rotating shaft. The closer the record chart approaches a true circle, the more nearly perfect the balance of the crankshaft. Above are shown the Torsiographic records of The Dictator Eight nine (9) bearing crankshaft and those of two other eights of double The Dictator's price. Notice the smooth roundness of The Dictator graph contrasted with the irregularity or "humpiness" of the other two.

inder, avoiding the common fault of "starving" the end cylinders, and assuring even power impulses.

The Dictator Eight as a car, is one of those rare engineering achievements—a mechanism in almost perfect balance. No part—no phase of performance—is over-stressed or under-stressed. Disposal of weight is ideal. The result is roadability—that delightful sense of poise and stability which gives you absolute confidence in yourself.

You enjoy relaxed motoring. Clutch-pushing is almost forgotten. Gear-shifting is effortless and quiet. Added safety is certified by scores of public traffic authorities. You save 15% to 20% on gasoline and oil. Your car will last longer, and cost less to maintain.

Drive The Dictator Eight after you've driven the others. The contrast will sell you!

Golfer Is Continually Under Restraint, Bobby Jones Says

By Bobby Jones.

"Why is it," someone asks, "that a fairly good golfer—that is, one who can play close to eighty on occasions—can sometimes possess what we call the 'feel' to such a degree that he can hit the ball really well, and then can suddenly lose all sense of hitting until he can't play at all? Is it because he can't play while he is thinking about his swing?"

It seems to me that this question implies that the better player, or expert, is able to play golf without thinking of anything at all except where he wants the ball to go. I know a good many fine young chaps engaged in big-time competition who would be highly pleased if this were so.

Unquestionably there are times when Tommy Armour, Gene Sarazen, Horton Smith and other first-class players can play the game sub-consciously. There are times when they have the "feel" just as the 30 player may have it. But it is a fine thing for the average player to remember that the most accomplished golfer can lose the touch as suddenly and for as little apparent reason as anyone else, and that although sometimes he can immediately discover and correct his fault, there are also times when he is entirely at a loss for a remedy.

"Feel" Comes and Goes.

And this does not mean that he does not know how he should swing a club. But golf is a difficult game to play consistently well because the correct swing is not a thing which the human body can accomplish entirely naturally. To hit the ball correctly, the golfer has always to be under a restraint. I have always, in my own mind, likened this restraint to that under which a trotting or a pacing horse must labor in a race when he must hold to an artificial gait, although every urge must be for him to run like blazes.

So any golfer may for a while have the "feel," so that he may think that he can go on playing in that way easily and naturally. But the trouble is that the moment some mental impulse or physical necessity suggests to one of his muscles that it do something else at a particular time, it is likely to yield because the thing it is doing is not the thing it can do most easily. A golfer who depends upon finding the "feel" more or less accidentally can never hope to play consistently well, day in and out, for this very reason. He must know how to hit a golf ball and he must know when and where in his swing to apply the restraint I have mentioned.

Even Pros Have It.

The answer to the question which started all this is, "Not because he can't play while he is thinking of the swing, but because he isn't sure what he ought to think about, and what he ought to try to do." Grant, of course, that there could be people who have an irreproachable conception of the golf stroke who yet have not enough muscular control or sense of timing so that they can play well. Still, that does not alter the proposition that the man who has the muscular control and sense of timing cannot play consistently well unless he knows what he is doing.

But I think it shows what the problem is when we realize that even the man with the control, the sense, and the knowledge, finds intervals when his game is off and he can't find the reason immediately. There are so many places to look and so many checks to make—and sometimes the trouble is found to be in the simplest and least suspected place. Golf is a game which must always be uncertain. I don't believe that anyone will ever master it to the extent that several have mastered billiards and chess. If someone should do that I think he would give it up, but that is a danger which most of us will be willing to risk.

DE LAUN TO WRESTLE ZAHARIAS AT BATTERY

Although defeated by Jim McMillen in his introductory local engagement at the Coliseum last week, Don de Laun, ponderous French-Canadian grappler, will be brought back to match grips with George Zaharias, stormy Colorado Greek.

The match was announced today as the second preliminary of Tom Pack's inaugural outdoor wrestling show, to be held next Wednesday night at the Battery Arena. It will be limited to 30 minutes.

Packs is now seeking a grappler to send against Indian Jim Clinkstock of Oklahoma in the curtain-raiser of his Battery program, which will be featured by a one-fall finish tussle between Karl Fojello, cagey Chicago Lithuanian, and Dick Daviscourt, Los Angeles headlock specialist.

The semi-indoor, limited to 45 minutes, brings Rudy Dusek of Omaha against Ivan Vacturoff, 230-pound Russian matman, and a newcomer to local wrestling.

HAMBURG, Germany, June 4.—
Chancellor Bruening and Foreign Minister Curtius departed today for England to engage in a week-end conference with Prime Minister Macdonald on Anglo-German problems.They arrived here on a special train at dawn and moved down the river several hours later on liner. A curious crowd assembled to greet them but there was no sign of life from their curtained windows.Their conversations with the British Premier and Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson are expected to deal with reparations, the Anglo-German customs treaty and other matters affecting Europe.
The Chancellor's last act before leaving Berlin was to submit to President Von Hindenburg a number of emergency decrees which he thought to mean additional cuts in the budget and in wage payments. If approved, these are expected to add further to the nation's discontent.The departure of the ministers coincided with rioting by Communists and unemployed persons near the City Hall. Shops were sacked, at least two persons were wounded and six arrests were made before the disturbance was put down. Four persons were wounded at Duisburg-Hamburg in a similar outbreak during the day.

sentatives have participated for DUSSELDORF, Germany, June 4.— Leaders in Western Germany's industrial life indirectly called on Chancellor Bruening to assume dictatorial powers in solving the economic crisis when they met yesterday.Fritz Thyssen, one of the delegates, said the Chancellor "has counted the wrong horse." He pointed out that the New York Governor's prospects with him directly,

House said he preferred not to answer.He had "no notion" what part,
if any, he would take in an active
way to promote either Roosevelt's candidacy or his election in event of nomination. "I have not been in good health for several years," he said, "and I don't know what I may do."Roosevelt, like House, was identified with the Wilson administration, serving two terms as Assistant Secretary of the Navy. House, who has never held political office, was active in both of Wilson's cam-

Tariff Placed at $25,000,000This Is Estimate of Assistant Secretary of Commerce—Stimson Says This Country Will Not Protest Against Rate.By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, June 4.—A Commerce Department study of the Canadian tariff revision says that the higher duties may result in American concerns losing $25,000,- 000 annually in exports to the Dominion.Assistant Secretary Klein, in announcing the findings of the study last night, said exports equaling approximately 4 per cent on the 1930 shipment to Canada would be imperiled by the changes.Last year Canada took American goods valued at $659,325,000, while United States' total exports amounted to about $3,500,000,000.Klein made his statement after Secretary of State Stimson announced that no protest would be made to Canada over the revision because this country considered the tariff as a domestic question.Canada, Klein suggested, made the revision in an effort to alleviate the unemployment. He added it was obvious that the Dominion was "putting herself in a favorable position" for conferences on reciprocal tariffs among the British dominions next fall. He recalled that Canada was economically a new land, and had been using a high protective tariff to develop a balanced economic status. Excessive seasonal variations, he continued,made such a policy inevitable as a means of equalizing employment irregularities.
American investments in Canada,
he noted, amounted to between $3,- 600,000,000 and $3,900,000,000, while those of British interests amounted to about $2,300,000,000.
The statement did not designate all commodities affected, but said that anthracite coal, hitherto on the free list, was assessed 40 cents a ton, as compared with 35 cents charged on British coal, and that oranges were taken from the free list and taxed 35 cents a cubic foot, or approximately 70 cents a box. It also was noted that the duty on bituminous coal, of which Canada has been taking about $25,000,000 worth annually from the United States, was increased from 50 cents to 75 cents a ton.Other Government experts pointed out that during the last seven years Great Britain had increased its anthracite coal business with Canada to more than 1,000,000 tons annually. Russia also has been selling anthracite to Canada.Canada last year took approximately $10,000,000 worth of American oranges, and during the first four months of this year the number of crates exported to the Dominion nearly doubled the 1930
exports.COL. HOUSE PREFERS

Would Win Presidency.MANCHESTER, Mass., June 4.—
Col. Edward M. House, political adviser to President Wilson during the greater part of his administration, today declared his preference for Franklin D. Roosevelt as the Democratic party's next presidential candidate.House, who arrived here recently for his thirty-sixth summer on the North Shore, described Roosevelt as "the most available candidate."
"If nominated, he'd be elected," the Colonel said. He said he also thought well of Newton D. Baker, former Secretary of War under Wilson, and asserted he had the greatest admiration for former Gov. Alfred E. Smith. "I was sorry the people didn't elect Smith the last time," he declared."I am very fond of Gov. Roosevelt. We are friends of 20 years.
We see a great deal of each other.
I agree with him on many of the issues of the day, including the Smoot-Hawley tariff bill and the need for reducing its schedules."Asked if he had ever discussed the matter of the New York Governor's prospects with him directly,
House said he preferred not to answer.He had "no notion" what part,
if any, he would take in an active
way to promote either Roosevelt's candidacy or his election in event
of nomination. "I have not been in good health for several years," he
may do."

The City Government today dean unidentified donor for the purpose of providing an organ in the Great Hall of the new Principia College on Piasa Bluffs, was announced today at the commence-

College, in Howard Gymnasium on the present site at Page boulevard and Bell avenue.The $50,000 gift, it was stated, was the latest item in a total of $52,767.36 given to the institution during the past year. The remainder is composed of gifts which were announced at different times, including the $20,000 gift of Claurence H. Howard for purchase of the Piasa Bluffs site for the new college.It was announced also that the cornerstone of the new institution, the chapel, was laid in the presence yesterday, will be named Morgan Memorial Chapel, in honor of William E. Morgan and his wife, Mary Kimball Morgan. Both are living, and Mrs. Morgan was founder and now president of the institution.
A fund has been provided for maintenance and preservation of the chapel, it was stated, but the amount and the course of the gift were not stated.

CHapel in Great Hall

The Great Hall, which is to have the $50,000 organ, is distinct from the chapel, being another building of the $5,000,000 institution to be built on the Piasa Bluffs site, in Illinois, 35 miles north of St. Louis.At the Principia Junior College commencement exercises today, 57 graduates received diplomas, and heard an address by Miss Grace Collins of Boston, a member of the college's board of trustees. The gifts were announced by Arthur T.
Morey, secretary of the board of trustees.Morey spoke at the cornerstone laying yesterday, expressing the hope that "Principia, in the heart of America, may stand for spiritual and mental freedom and tolerance."In reply to a query, officers of the college announced about $2-500,000 already in was in hand toward the building enterprise.
It is anticipated that the junior college buildings, part of the first unit of 16, will be ready for occupancy Sept. 19, 1932, and that by the following year the entire group will have been completed on the 2013-acre tract.The chapel, suggested by the student council of 1925 as the first building to be erected, will consti-guests, including students, their

the exercises. They made the trip to Elmhurst, Ill., less than a mile from the college property, by special train.The exercises, conducted briefly on the very edge of a bluff where once flared the signal fires of the Illini, were opened by Mrs. Morgan, founder and president of the school, and conducted by her son, Frederic, its director. She read passages from the Scriptures and excerpts from the writings of Mary Baker Eddy, founder of the Christian Science faith.In his address, Morey mentioned the historical significance of the site, peopled once by mound builders and described in the journal of Marquette as he floated past the bluffs with Joliet in 1673.
The college buildings, Morey said, will "be symbols of faith in the omnipotence of life, truth and love."

unfurled silken flags including those of England, Honduras, Bel-the Principia organization were placed in the chapel cornerstone.

The box contained also a Bible, the works of Mrs. Eddy, all publications of the Christian Science Publishing Society and school year books.A committee representing trustcadet band played, bore the box further up the rolling turf to the private castles, including properties

1600 such buildings under control

It was explained that the dehands of the church or private citi-

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by powerful plutocracy, or predatory poverty.

Dislikes New Park Entrances.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
IN reference to the new entrance to Forest Park:

The city has, in a way, come to think of you as a public guardian for what is still left of our natural beauty in this section of the country.

Have you been over the drive which now has become the main entrance to Forest Park? As you know, the park has been constantly encroached upon until the old-timers hardly recognize it, but now the greatest desecration of all has just been accomplished.

Presuming that the change in the drive was to get rid of the railroad and make a more effective entrance, the direct opposite has been obtained. What was once the Grand Drive led you down into the park in a most pleasing way. It was a lovely place for people to promenade. There was a certain dignified roll to the landscape. It is true we went under a railroad track, but in reality it was not seriously objectionable. What do we do now? We climb up over a mountain and then have the most wonderful view of the railroad tracks stretching to left and right, halted at the left by a most hideous new iron bridge.

The presence of the railroad will forever be with us as we enter the park from now on, whereas before we slipped under the railroad bridge, hardly noting it, so lovely was the roll of the land. Now as one descends the grade, after crossing the new bridge, the first 200 feet—could anything be worse? The psychology of the entrance into a park, if we could use such a term, is just the opposite to what it should be. Now bear in mind that the same men who laid out this scheme for the entrance to Forest Park are the men who are undertaking to design the Alton Plaza.

Mammy!

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

IT was a great day for dear old mother in Circuit Court at Clayton. Somebody's mother was on trial for first-fighting. Counsel for the defense pleaded, waxed eloquent, worked up a lather and his passion mounting, at length burst into more or less melodious song. I crooned a somewhat dated popular ditty of mother's love for her wandering boy. He moved the jury. Whatever the risk of aggravating the offense and increasing the penalty, he got his client off without fine or jail term. So, keeping abreast of this new jurisprudence, I nominate the Hon. Al Johnson for the next vacancy in the Supreme Court.

For a Public Works Program.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

OUR editorial, "A Flexible Public Works Program," is the only real suggestion I have seen offered by anyone to end this outrageous situation which the country is in. A gigantic bond issue by the Government sufficient to put everybody to work on necessary improvements is logical and sensible, also practical. It is plain duty which the Government owes to its citizens. We are merely a large family, bound together by the same bond as other families.

If a man has a family of children and is abundant in love and tenderness to them, but is satisfied to see them barely exist without the real necessities of life, we would consider him a very mean man. He could not expect much respect from his family, for it is his duty to see that his family is provided for. It is no less the duty of our Government to see that each of its great family is provided with work so they may live decently. If this is not done, how can our Government expect a loyal patriotic citizenry, any more than the man who neglects his duty to his family, and allows them to get out and beg for what they need, while he is living on the fat of the land?

ONE OF THE FAMILY.

An Inept Comparison.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

PRESIDENT HOOVER, in his Memorial day speech, compares the present day depression to George Washington's days at Valley Forge. I cannot see the point. At that time the country had neither money nor food; today the country has both. I think an explanation is due.

We Are All Walking Distillers.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

WE are all walking distillers, who are forever and ever doomed to break the law.

I have just read the letter from Donald P. Beard of Kansas City, who quoted a great medical authority as saying that in each human body is generated a certain amount of alcohol.

Now there are laws against the manufacture of alcohol except for medicinal purposes. According to this great authority, then, each person owns and operates a plant which manufactures alcohol for use as a stimulant. And, greatest of all discoveries, this brings to light the fact that the members of the W. C. T. U. have been secretly manufacturing alcohol for use by their own bodies.

TAKING THE UNDERWORLD.

In announcing his agreement with 41 bookmakers, by which the latter will plead guilty to misdemeanors and be fined $250 each, Circuit Attorney Miller explained the plan would relieve the courts and the Circuit Attorney's office of the cases and would provide additional revenue. The $10,250 to be so collected will go to the Board of Education. In effect, if the practice is continued, this is to set up a system of taxation upon an outlawed business.

The incident recalls the interesting decision made in April by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in the Idaho liquor conspiracy cases. In certain mining towns in that State, Mayors, Councilmen and other public officials, harassed for funds to meet expenses, decided to "license" speakeasies, gambling and disorderly houses. They made regular collections from these places and applied the money to schools and other municipal needs. Wholesale convictions were obtained and many of the officials went to prison. Mayor Rossi of Wallace, Idaho, and R. E. Weniger, former Sheriff of Shoshone County, convicted on 17 counts, successfully appealed.

In reversing the conviction the court held it is legal to tax what is forbidden; that the power to tax is the power to destroy and, if pressed far enough, accomplishes that result. The court said:

The case made against the municipal officers was simply this and nothing more: from time to time these officers collected tribute from bootleggers, gamblers and perhaps other law violators within the city, sometimes openly and sometimes by subterfuge, but always for the benefit of the municipality.

Another analogous situation is that the Federal Government not only accepts income taxes on the profits of bootleggers and gamblers, but prosecutes them when they fail to make returns. Recently Federal authorities in Chicago have obtained convictions of Ralph Capone, Jack Guzik and other members of the notorious Capone gang for not paying to the Government its share of their bootlegging and gambling profits. George Remus, once termed the "millionaire bootlegger," and many other lawbreakers have been subjected to similar prosecution, and the Government makes no effort to excuse itself for taking money gained in contraband enterprises.

The Idaho officials took a realistic view of the situation. Their towns had always had a "wide-open" tradition and the enactment of liquor and gambling laws had failed to accomplish their end. Since it was impossible to enforce these laws, why not make bootleggers and gamblers pay taxes like law-abiding people? They were merely carrying one step farther the common practice in many American cities and towns, particularly resort places, where gambling houses are prosecuted and fined once a year and permitted to run merrily the remainder of the time. That is simply to license gambling under a very thin guise of law enforcement.

There is no doubt that the United States Circuit Court of Appeals decision opens enticing possibilities to officials racked with the perplexities of insufficient tax revenues. The combined efforts of police and prosecuting authorities have failed to rid this city of bookmakers, and 10 years after the dawn of the noble experiment we have it on the authority of Prohibition Administrator Davis that St. Louis has 1500 speakeasies. There is a field for taxation that should dazzle Comptroller Nolte.

The Idaho towns came to the conclusion that it was impossible to force sumptuary laws upon people who would not have them. Perhaps the larger cities will eventually face that conclusion, too, and substitute for the myth of enforcement the destroying or regulatory power of taxation. Such is the none too pleasant pass to which the reformers, with their mania for legislating goodness into mankind, have brought us. They have put us into partnership with the underworld.

LECTURE IN ENTOMOLOGY.

Let us get it straight before they arrive. Seventeen-year locusts are not locusts at all. They are cicadas, the longest-lived of all insects, and they do not even belong to the locust family. And just to dispel another popular misconception about them, they don't come once every 17 years. True enough, they appear in larger numbers at intervals, but it is because the grubs live for 16 years on tree roots and then emerge in the seventeenth year if they possess their Biblical-sounding name. One thing more, class, before the bell rings. The scissors-grinder, railway-whistle noise which the male makes does not come from his larynx, but from a couple of kettle drums carried below and well aft. These membrane-covered cavities contain powerful vibrating muscles which serve as drumsticks, and come equipped with sounding boards. The gentler sex, on the other hand, is deaf as well as dumb. It was this fact which led Xenarchus, the Eugene Field of 350 B. C., to carve on one of Athens' park benches:

Happy are the cicadas' lives
For they all have voiceless wives.

THE MYSTERY OF SENATE BILLS NO. 186 AND NO. 427.

The House investigation to solve the mystery of Senate Bills No. 186 and No. 427 resulted in expunging notation of their passage from House records, but failed to fix responsibility for this remarkable occurrence. The soft pedal was placed upon the inquiry by defeat of a motion by Representative Herman Barken, a member of the investigating committee, that additional time be granted to look into the matter.

Senate bill No. 186 would have required all motor vehicles to be equipped with a certain patent device, requiring the payment of an annual fee of 50 cents to the Secretary of State's department. It was vetoed by Gov. Caulfield. Senate bill No. 427 provided for a change in the method of taxing stock insurance companies, organized in Missouri, which, it is estimated, would have saved such companies more than $100,000 a year. It was signed by Gov. Caulfield, though, of course, the House's action invalidates it.

Both bills were defeated in the House, but entry was made in the records that they both passed May 2 on motions to reconsider offered by Representative James T. Blair. The official reporter, who was present May 2, the last day before the House recessed, said neither bill was called up for reconsideration. Thirty House members testified they could not recall Blair's motions. Several House members interested in the bills were positive neither bill had been reconsidered or passed. Other testimony was adduced to add color to the suspicion that someone tampered with the House records.

The action of the House in nullifying further investigation is far from reassuring. Is someone being protected? Since when has it become possible to put laws upon Missouri statute books by recording their passage in a legislative journal? The House owes it to the people of Missouri to probe to the bottom of this mystery and furnish an explanation.

CANADA'S TARIFF RETALIATION.

For the third time in a year a Canadian Government has announced tariff increases, inspired largely by our own Hawley-Smoot levies. Again, as in the two previous revisions upward, business interests in the United States are additionally burdened in their traffic with this country's best customer. Just before last year's parliamentary election Premier Mackenzie King, seeing the country-wide fervor for protection, departed from his Liberal party's free-trade tenets and imposed a schedule of countervailing duties, to raise rates to the height of this country's barriers. The election last July was fought largely on the tariff issue. The Conservatives, promising larger increases than their opponents, swept into power, and promptly fulfilled their pledges. The present increase, embodied in Premier Bennett's new budget, places still higher levies on 200 products, chiefly from the United States.

More than two years ago the Post-Dispatch said:

We hardly think Mr. Hoover and Congress care to invite economic war with Canada, but it appears that revision of the tariff is so far as it affects Canadian products is likely to produce that result.

This country's vested interests were audacious enough to invite that economic combat. We see its results today not only in steadily decreasing exports to our northern neighbor, but in tariff reprisals by more than 30 other nations as well, and general reduction of exports that cannot be attributed entirely to the world depression.

The new Canadian rates will place further obstacles in the way of steel, coal, automobile and allied producers who look beyond our borders for outlets, and on steady operation of whose plants unemployment relief so largely depends. The rates will add to the distress of our farmers, whose corn, wheat, vegetables and other crops mature earlier than those in Canada. Of course, the increases are not put forth baldly as reprisals, but under the diplomatic guise of stimulating Canadian industries and alleviating unemployment. But the high rate on oranges, which surely will not induce Canadians to set out citrus groves, indicates the true purpose of the action. Canada's experience with higher tariffs as a source of revenue has been no more fortunate than our own. For the 12 months ending March 30 her tariff receipts totaled $149,000,000, as against $199,000,000 for the previous year, a loss of 25 per cent. Our own revenue decrease in that time has been 30 per cent.

Canada's new tariff is merely the action on one battle front of what a speaker at the Foreign Trade Conference last week called the American-made "greatest world-wide tariff war in history." The pleas of exporters, domestic business, labor, economists and statesmen have been directed toward curbing this great obstacle to trade. The Republican National Committee gave its answer a few days ago. It said:

There is now ample evidence to show that under present conditions the rates in the Hawley-Smoot tariff are no more than adequate in many instances, and in some cases, perhaps, not high enough.

THIS IS NO AU REVOIR.

Texas Guinan has waved a "last farewell to la belle France." Our Gallic friends may shrug incredulous shoulders. They may say "Ma foi!" or "Pouf!" or "O la la!" or whatever it is they say in their quizzical moments of doubt. They may exclaim "La femme, la femme, toujours la femme," intimating that a woman is bound to change her mind. Well, they don't know the girl. A night club hostess scorned is not easily placated. Regardless of the mutations fortune may have up her sleeve, Miss Guinan's future address will never be "Somewhere in France." She has spoken. It is her final ultimatum.

HONORING CIVIC ACHIEVEMENT.

Better public appreciation of the community's outstanding citizens doubtless will be one result of the fund just created for annual bestowal of a $1000 prize on the person who has performed the most distinguished service or brought the highest honor to Greater St. Louis. At the same time, fitting tribute will be paid to records of accomplishment for which no formal recognition now exists.

In setting aside the $10,000 fund, the anonymous donor follows the precedent successfully carried out by many other cities over the country. Chief among these is Philadelphia, where, by the beneficence of Edward W. Bok, $10,000 has been awarded annually since 1922. Winners of this recognition have come from fields of achievement ranging from that of Leopold Stokowski to that of Connie Mack. Civic organizations in Los Angeles, Denver, Houston, Tex., Jackson, Mich., Chattanooga, Tenn., and elsewhere give annual awards of medals and other tokens.

Choosing the first citizen must offer considerable difficulties in the complex life of any city. The character of the committee which is to administer the St. Louis Award gives assurance, however, that the prize will be wisely bestowed. That the award shall lapse for a year if no achievement up to its standard is recorded is a wise proviso. This is the method followed by the Nobel prize jury, which has not one city but the entire world from which to choose. The cash prize, while a substantial amount, will be far outweighed by the honor to be done by this annual award. The praiseworthy civic spirit of the fund's creator will enable St. Louis to prove that a prophet does have honor in his own country.

WHEN THE GOVERNORS MEET.

A vote of thanks may be tendered Gov. Pinchot of Pennsylvania and Gov. Ritchie of Maryland for bringing the annual Governors' conference back to the front page. With admirable disregard for the conventions, Mr. Pinchot ignored the harmless topic of conservation which had been assigned him and went after the Power Trust, hammer and tongs, particularly its operations in his own State. And in discussing prohibition in its relation to economic conditions, Mr. Ritchie candidly censured the conference for its cautious practice of avoiding controversial subjects. For a good many years the Governors' conference has been a spineless occasion which could quite as well have been omitted. Yet the material of first-rate drama is inherent in the organization, and in the personnel are actors capable of playing their parts well. In a word, the conference ought to be a good show. Perhaps the insurgency of the Maryland and Pennsylvania executives will restore its fighting spirit.

TARIFF WALLS WORK BOTH WAYS.

Mexico's Efforts to Pay Her Debts

Formerly viewed as one of the stablest Latin American states, Mexico has been almost continually in default since 1914; two past settlements failed when facts did not meet expectations; wide concessions made in 1930 pact; due to reduced revenues, nation now cannot pay even lower amounts; no forcible collection expected, however.

By Chester Lloyd Jones, Director, School of Commerce, University of Wisconsin.

THE Caribbean republics and Mexico were in default of their debts on the average 72 per cent of the time in the period 1831-40, but the record showed a fairly steady improvement thereafter to 15 per cent in 1921-28. Since then, no Caribbean state has failed to meet its interest and amortization payments. Many have reduced their debts. One, Venezuela, has set a new standard by paying off all its foreign obligations. Others have found it possible through the better credit they now enjoy to borrow for public improvements on better terms than they formerly found possible.

Mexico in recent years has not made so favorable a record, however. Largest of the Latin states of North America, with an area a little less than twice as great as its nearest rivals in the Caribbean and a population about equal to that of Colombia, Venezuela, Cuba and Guatemala—the four next in line—Mexico nevertheless has been almost continuously in default since 1914. The case is the more remarkable because for years previous to 1914, Mexico was regarded as one of the stablest Latin American states. Her resources had been developing rapidly with the co-operation of foreign capital, her foreign trade and public income before the revolution of 1910 had been increasing steadily and she had recently floated foreign loans at par, although they were to pay only 4 per cent interest. Her credit was a reflection of the widespread belief that serious troubles, financial and political were, for Mexico, a thing of the past.

Long-drawn revolutions, especially when they involve social as well as political changes, almost always upset public finance, and the experience of Mexico since 1910 has been no exception to the rule. As is not infrequent under such circumstances, the reports of these in control of Mexican financial affairs have in some cases proved to represent frail hopes rather than serious estimates of actual conditions. Hence the efforts to make settlements with the bondholders have been disappointing to all parties concerned.

In 1922, in the presidency of Alvaro Obregon, affairs seemed to be on the mend and a "settlement" was negotiated between Finance Minister de la Huerta and T. W. Lamont, representing the bondholders. But events did not justify expectations and Alberto J. Paul, the next Finance Minister, broke the engagement with Lamont in 1925 by which the bankers granted more liberal concessions. This agreement had a fate similar to that of its predecessor. The fact is, both agreements were made without exact knowledge of the facts, for, from 1917 to the end of 1927, tax laws and appropriations were established by executive decree under which no adequate account was submitted to Congress before it was actually in operation. That year saw new negotiations for adjustment under Minister of Finance Montes de Oca, but an actual agreement was not reached until July 25, 1930, in the presidency of Ortiz Rubio.

This engagement—which still nominally governs Mexico's foreign debt position—again made concessions to Mexico in the light of new information as to economic conditions and prospects. It was declared to be based on consideration of Mexico's capacity to pay and of the other obligations making up the public debt—that is, of internal obligations. Once more the efforts of the negotiators failed, for the drop in the value of silver, one of the chief factors in the balance of payments of Mexico, caused a supplemental agreement on Jan. 30, 1931, by which gold payments on the debt were postponed for two years, though payment in silver pesos to be credited to Mexican account is to continue.

Critics of the agreement of 1930 have not been lacking. All told the public debt, before adjustment, was reported to be about 5,000,000,000 pesos, or $2,500,000,000 at par of exchange. It was declared payment of this amount was impossible, in view of the economic weakness of Mexico. The direct foreign debt was given as $500,000,000 pesos, with unpaid interest of 372,000,000 pesos. The capital account of the railroad debt was 430,000,000 pesos, with interest of 346,000,000 pesos. In the adjustment, the bondholders agreed to forego the back interest, thus reducing these four items to approximately $500,000,000.

But, declare those who do not approve the arrangement, this agreement, even if Mexico can pay the service on the amounts stated, is one which neglects to make provision for other obligations, such as the floating debt of about 700,000,000 pesos, the agrarian debt, estimated at 1,500,000,000 pesos, and various other claims against the Government. Does not the settlement, it is asked, favor some classes of creditors over others? If this be true, is it a just measure, and is it calculated to bolster public credit effectively?

Whatever the decision on this point, for the present at least, Mexico cannot pay the service of even the debts nominally adjusted. The old revenues have shrunk to a small fraction of their former yield, the agricultural crisis continues acute and, of at least equal importance, the metal markets are all in crisis. Lead, copper and zinc yielded less per pound in 1930 than five years ago. Silver, of which Mexico is the world's premier producer, brought in 1930 less than $9,000,000 pesos, as compared to 122,000,000 in 1925, in spite of the fact that the weight of the metal was greater in 1930. The disappointing record of debt negotiations has at least one encouraging feature. Although observers feel Mexico could pay more to her creditors if she would slow down expenditures on her ambitious program of social reform, the bondholders have not refused to accept the Mexican argument that the reforms in progress have a proper place in the budget.

There has been no demand for an attempt at forcible collection of the Mexican public debts. Action such as three European Powers undertook against Venezuela in the opening years of the century is evidently not to be repeated. Instead, Mexico is being held to pay what she can in view of the circumstances which confront her. No country in the long run can pay more. In these days of reliance being put on the fact that every country finds it advantageous to protect its credit.

Re-Electing Mr. Hoover

"The Gentleman at the Keyhole," in Collier

THE man of mystery in Washington, Ray Benjamin of California, has been here for six months or more, tentatively attending to his law business, he unmistakably devoting his time to politics. His offices are not with the Republican National Committee. To have him here, right into national headquarters would be hard on the feelings of Senator Simon P. Fess, reputed chairman of the committee. But if Mr. Benjamin does not exercise the functions—except speech-making—of the issuing of statements—that the post Dr. Fess ought to exercise, then it is hard to make out what he is doing.

In other words, Dr. Fess is already practically out of his job. In directing the affairs of the Republican National Committee, he is a sort of verminiform appendage. He hardly had time to get used to his position as national chairman before someone else had all the influence that goes with the office.

If one can judge from appearance, Dr. Fess is going to lose the title itself as well as the glory of the chairmanship just as soon as the office begins to amount to something, which means just as soon as the time for renominating and re-electing Mr. Hoover draws near. About the end of this year one would expect to see the curtain drawn from Mr. Benjamin and have it revealed that he is national chairman, not only in name, but in fact. There is no question that the renominating and re-electing of Mr. Hoover is a man-sized job. And Mr. Benjamin is a very sizable man politically.

It seems to have been realized the instant Fess was made chairman to succeed the somewhat beclouded Claudius Houston that the doctor was not up to the job of directing the affairs of the Republican National Committee. From 1912 to 1920 he was Senator Hiram Johnson's chief lieutenant in California, and chairman of the California Republican State Committee. That was good school in which to learn politics, but there is nothing amateurish about the job of running a national campaign. Benjamin Johnson about 1920 and Hoover, that is to say, he is the one Republican in Washington who is thinking of the time about how to re-elect Mr. Hoover. Therefore he is obviously in training to take over the task.

Mr. Benjamin is better qualified than anyone else that Mr. Hoover has ever picked out as national chairman. He knows the political onions. From 1912 to 1920 he was Senator Hiram Johnson's chief lieutenant in California, and chairman of the California Republican State Committee. That was good school in which to learn politics, but there is nothing amateurish about the job of running a national campaign. Benjamin Johnson about 1920 and Hoover, that is to say, he is the one Republican in Washington who is thinking of the time about how to re-elect Mr. Hoover. Therefore he is obviously in training to take over the task.

Not only is he the best man for national chairman in sight, but there is no one else in sight. President Hoover has had three shots already at filling the national chairmanship and all of them were missed. Many persons want the job. Mr. Benjamin apparently does. He qualifies as a first-class political onion, enjoying the President's confidence and as being agreeable to the practical politicians of the party. He is one of their number.

THE gigolo industry is bankrupt, as Phil Baker observes. They are now dancing together. Economic conditions coupled with the decline of the night club ended a market in New York, the spoils of which kept some 2000 young rakes on the top wave.

In flush days after the war, many wives who stepped out had feather-footed "boy friends" who served as escort for pay. Most of them were Latin-Americans, personable appearing blades with olive complexions, brooding eyes and a hand of hand-kissing repartee.

That a number were dangerously delinquent criminals is a matter of record. They have been jailed and often trapped for mysterious apartment house jewel robberies. A few were known to be agents, provocateurs for white slavers in Rio Janeiro.

The gigolo or morals of the modern prototype. While it is never considered a highly respectable calling in France there was about it the air of toleration. The Paris brand were often Sorbonne students dancing for pin money at the Casino and supper clubs.

They sat at special tables with dancing girls, the ladies sent headwaiters for them, they danced and the charge was on the check. No money was exchanged between them and employers. Nor did they converse with partners unless encouraged.

Yet in New York they had great freedom. They were carried about in various affairs by foolish women who paid the tariff. Busy husbands permitted them in their homes and seemed to think it was all right for them to appear in public with their wives.

These wealthy New York women deserted their husbands and married gigolos. A rich 72-year-old widow eloped to Europe with one and married him in St. Moritz. They are now touring the Far East together. But stern reality has wiped out another post-war madness.

SOMEHOW even at this late date I cannot figure out why Theodore Dreiser, after receiving $150,000 for "An American Tragedy" movie rights, wants to sue because they desired to change it. For that sum I'd let them change it into a zebra's elbow and toss in my Aunt Ida's hand-painted wash rag for a keepsake.

MR. DREISER, to me, always has the owl look of surprise, the forlorn radiance of the unattainable. A word describing him better, perhaps, is eerie—and don't confuse that with those who have been hit by the Erie! He is a master craftsman. One of the very best in his line. Yet it doesn't seem to me he should take it all so seriously. After all, it is only writing books. Peggy Joyce does that.

TO the stranger, the cultured side of New York appears remote. Yet in one of the theaters every Sunday night a professional story teller appears to capacity audiences and has for months. Philosophers such as Plato, Xenophon and Socrates are discussed and follows an open forum with all joining in.

ACTING a fool thing way today hath apparently got the letter on my typewriter out of whack. Anyway it won't print. But we must go on. It shall never be thaid that thuth an in-thignificant thing ath that thall keep me from giving my public thaththththth. Tomorrow we expect to have plenty of etheth. In the meanthime may heavn bleth you. And love and kitheth.

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., June 4.

THE subscription several times of eight hundred million dollars indicates a very large amount of idle capital in the country. That is a good foundation but not enough. Money is beneficial mostly in proportion to its profitable use. Evidently capital is very timid. Faith and courage are also needed.

Two years ago the rate of interest on short time treasury notes was five and one-eighth. Now for a long term bond the rate is three and one-eighth. Many who were inclined to scoff at nine per cent now bid against each other for three per cent and safety. If they err in judgment, it is on the side of caution. While the frame of mind exists, there is little danger of inflation but only a negative sign of reviving trade.

No doubt the Government should borrow as cheaply as possible. But if fair wages and prices are to be maintained, a fair price for money should be paid. The savings of the people in banks and insurance companies cannot make an adequate return with interest rates too low. Fair earnings for savings are an important factor in the purchasing power of the people.

MARY MERWIN SHEPLEY TO MARRY J. H. BRIGGS

Engagement to Cleveland Man to Be Announced Late This Afternoon.

MR. ARTHUR B. SHEPLEY, 50 Westmoreland place, announces the engagement of his younger daughter, Miss Mary Merwin Shepley, to John Hamilton Briggs, son of Dr. Charles Edwin Briggs of Cleveland, O. The news will be told informally to a small group of Miss Shepley's close friends who have been invited to their home at 4 o'clock this afternoon. The betrothal is the first of importance in June, and takes its place as one of the most outstanding of the year.

Miss Shepley is a graduate of Mary Institute and St. Peter's School in Farmington, Conn. She has traveled extensively in Europe and was presented to society two years ago at an elaborate dinner dance given by Mrs. Shepley at the St. Louis Country Club. She is a member of the Junior League. Miss Shepley's mother was Miss Emily Catlin, a belle in her girlhood, and she is a sister of Mrs. Edward Lawrence Keyes, formerly Miss Emily Catlin Shepley, and Arthur B. Shepley Jr. Her grandmother is Mrs. Ephron Catlin, 15 Vandeventer place, and she is related to other families of prominence.

Mr. Briggs is a graduate of the Taft School, Watertown, Conn. Yale University, and the Harvard School of Business Administration, where he completed his studies with the present June class. He arrived in St. Louis this afternoon to spend a few days with Mrs. Shepley and his fiancée, and to be present at the announcement.

Mrs. Shepley will depart late this month to spend the season at her summer home in Northeast Harbor, Me., where she will be joined later by her son and daughter. Miss Shepley and her brother will depart in a fortnight for the Simon Snyder ranch in Wyoming for a visit before going East.

Having hot water instantly available, or every one of your family's cleanliness, health and comfort needs is one of the greatest home conveniences, yet one of the most inexpensive. The average cost of this service is only 3c per day per person. You use hot water now and no matter how you heat it, it cost you something in money, time and effort. An automatic heater gives you a constant supply or every need at a price that is insignificant when compared to the benefit you derive from this modern service.

Re-Electing Mr. Hoover

"The Gentleman at the Keyhole," in Collier's

THE man of mystery in Washington is Ray Benjamin of California. He has been here for six months or more, ostensibly attending to his law business, but unmistakably devoting his time to politics. His offices are not with the Republican National Committee. To have him move right into national headquarters would be hard on the feelings of Senator Simeon D. Fess, reputed chairman of the committee. But if Mr. Benjamin does not exercise the functions—except speech-making—of the issuing of statements—that the good Dr. Fess ought to exercise, then it is hard to make out what he is doing.

In other words, Dr. Fess is already practically out of his job. In directing the affairs of the Republican National Committee, he is a sort of verniform appendage. He hardly had time to get used to his title as national chairman before someone else had all the influence that goes with the office.

If one can judge from appearance, Dr. Fess is going to lose the title itself and all the glory of the chairmanship just as soon as the office begins to amount to something, which means just as soon as the time for renominating and re-electing Mr. Hoover draws near. About the end of this year one would expect to see the curtain drawn from Mr. Benjamin and have it revealed that he is national chairman, not only in name, but in fact. There is no question that the renominating and re-electing of Mr. Hoover is a man-sized job. And Mr. Benjamin is a very sizable man politically.

It seems to have been realized the instant Fess was made chairman to succeed the somewhat beleaguered Claudius Huston that the doctor was not up to the job of electing Mr. Hoover President. Thereupon Mr. Benjamin came unobtrusively into Washington from California. The reasons for thinking that he will be made national chairman about next December are impressive. In the first place, Mr. Benjamin is giving his whole attention to the task of improving President Hoover's political prospects; that is to say, he is the one Republican in Washington who is thinking all the time about how to re-elect Mr. Hoover. Therefore he is obviously in training to take over the task.

Mr. Benjamin is better qualified than anyone else that Mr. Hoover has ever picked out as national chairman. He knows Mr. Hoover's political opinions. From 1912 to 1920 he was Senator Hiram Johnson's chief lieutenant in California, and chairman of the California Republican State Committee. That was a good school in which to learn politics, for there is nothing amateurish about the Johnson machine in California. Benjamin broke with Johnson about 1920 and attached himself to the rising figure of Hoover.

Not only is he the best man for national chairman in sight, but there is no one else in sight. President Hoover has had three shots already at filling the national chairmanship and all of them were misses. Not many persons want the job. Mr. Benjamin apparently does. He qualifies as a friend of the President, enjoying the President's confidence and as being agreeable to the practical politicians of the party. He is one of their number.

PLANS TO EXPAND ELECTRIC PLANTS IN LOS ANGELES

City-Owned System Now Distributes Two-Thirds of Power Consumed, but Looks to Future.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 4.—

Plans of the City of Los Angeles to develop and extend its municipal electric light and power service are under discussion, with recent interest centering in the proposal of D. F. Densel, Utah coal magnate, to build a huge plant, sell electricity to the city at lower rates than present cost, and at the end of 20 years turn the plant over to the city without further payment. The Densel plan has served to focus attention upon the city's need of an additional source of electricity to enable it to maintain its place in the group of large cities having low-cost power. At the City Hall, however, opinion seems to lean toward the construction of additional city-owned generating plants, and engineers are preparing plans for a $7,000,000 steam plant to have 60,000 kilowatts capacity. The city now distributes about two-thirds of the electricity consumed in Los Angeles, generating slightly more than one-third of that amount at its own water power plants, and buying the remainder from the Southern California Edison Co. Another company, the Los Angeles Gas & Electric Corporation, supplies nearly one-third of the consumption.

Production at City Plants.
The production of electricity by the city's water power plants in 1930 was 250,000,000 kilowatt hours, and in the same year it purchased from the Southern California Edison Co. approximately 490,000,000 kilowatt hours. These 740,000,000 kilowatt hours were slightly more than two-thirds of all the electricity distributed in the city, the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation producing and distributing about 310,000,000 kilowatt hours. Some outlying portions of

ELECTRIC RATES IN HOMES SUPPLIED BY CITY-OWNED PLANT IN LOS ANGELES

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 3.
MUNICIPAL electric rates for homes in Los Angeles are:
First 50 kilowatt hours for five or fewer circuits, and for nine kilowatt hours per circuit for each circuit in excess of five, 5 cents a kilowatt hour.
For the next 125 kilowatt hours of monthly consumption, 2½ cents a kilowatt hour.
For all consumption in excess of these steps, 2 cents a kilowatt hour. Minimum charge, 60 cents a month.
The average domestic rate is 4.3 cents.
In St. Louis the average domestic rate is 4.28 cents.

the city were served directly by the Southern California Edison to the extent of about 42,000,000 kilowatt hours.
The average price paid by the city to the Edison Co. was 6.8 mills a kilowatt hour—the rate varying from 6.4 to 7.2 mills. This purchase was made under a contract entered into in 1922, when the municipally-owned system took over the Edison company's distributing lines inside the then city limits, by which the city agreed to purchase from the company, any power needed in excess of the capacity of its aqueduct hydro-electric plants. After July 1, 1932, the city may operate steam plants if it desires.

Steam Plant Proposed.
Managers of the city system have made several attempts to obtain a bond issue to erect a steam plant, but each such attempt has been defeated at the polls. Natural gas, the cost of which is low, is the fuel used in steam plants. It is planned to pay for the steam plant now under consideration out of earnings, and it is hoped to have it in operation soon after the contract limitation expires. It is asserted this plant will save the city $750,000 a year.

Managers of the city system also have made several tentative efforts to absorb the electric system of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation, but these, so far, have always been beaten on referendum. There is pending, however, an attack on the legality of this corporation's franchise, which may enable the city to take over the distribution, and possibly the generating system, of this company. While enough interest was taken in the Densel plan to result in obtaining an opinion from the City Attorney that a contract with him would be legal, it is not seriously considered by the Water and Power Commissioners.

Densel's Proposal.
Densel offered to sell electricity at 5.7 mills a kilowatt hour, maximum, and 5 mills, minimum. He reserved the five-gases and 1,000,000 kilowatt hours daily of the plant's electric production, explaining that he expected to use these in production of nitrates, "dry ice" and other chemical products.

This price would be fixed for 20 years, and the generating cost of electricity has been steadily dropping for a long time. Between 1900 and 1920 it fell 75 per cent. So that while the present price would be a slight saving from the Edison price, the probabilities are the Edison price will be less in a few years.

To Expand Aqueduct Plants.
The city's aqueduct plants, which have an installed capacity of 160,700 horsepower, are capable of considerable expansion, and expansion is planned. The commissioners have ordered plans for a 20,000 horsepower unit for early installation. Under a bond issue submitted in 1930, which was voted down, provision was made for a 10,000 horsepower unit at Big Pine, 260 miles up in the Owens Valley, where the city obtains most of its water, and of 7500 horsepower at Cottonwood, 205 miles from the city, and transmission lines from both plants. The city has generating plants of about 13,000 horsepower already in Owens Valley, used entirely for pumping water into the city system and lighting the small towns in the valley.

Up at the head of Owens Valley is Owens Gorge, in which a private company has some small plants. The city expects to dispossess this company and develop the gorge fully, which will make possible the addition of 150,000 horsepower. Owens Gorge is 286 miles distant from Los Angeles.

Power plants Nos. 1 and 2, from which power is now transmitted to the city, are relatively just outside the city limits. Power plant No. 2 was below the ill-fated St. Francis dam, which went out in March, 1928, causing the loss of 378 lives. The power plant was washed away, but has been rebuilt.

City System Worth $80,000,000.
The city's valuation of power plants, transmission, distribution and other portions of its electric system, so far, is approximately $80,000,000, of which $50,000,000 has been provided by bond issues. The plant did a gross business of $16,295,000 in the year ending last June 30, and its profit was reported to be $4,224,000.

These figures are challenged. The city plant pays no taxes and is under no regulatory authority, the State Railroad Commission having jurisdiction only over privately owned plants. It pays nothing to the water system for "falling water." Its bookkeeping system is its own.

E. F. Scattergood, chief electrical engineer, asserts that during the 13 years the power system has been in operation it has earned a surplus of $2,548,000, and in addition has saved rate payers approximately $42,000,000. It is asserted in contradiction by a research engineer of the Edison company that if the various items which a private plant would have had to pay had been charged against the rate the issue was waged on the $11,000,000 items. It is regarded as certain that when funds are asked for the transmission line alone, they will be granted. It is expected to cost $15,000,000 or more.

Challenges City's Figures.
It is also declared that Scattergood figures his saving to rate payers by contrasting the city rate of today with the city rate of 1917, which was 5.5 cents for domestic lighting, whereas it is now 4.8 cents. But the rate for communities outside the city in 1917 was 7 cents and is now 5, and these are still served by private power companies, so that the private power rate has dropped faster than the city rate. The rate structure is a complicated one and makes comparison somewhat difficult; the foregoing are the base rates.

A source of power which the city system is counting upon for the future is Boulder Dam, but that is several years off. The power installation at present contemplated for this structure is 1,200,000 horsepower, of which 650,000 is "firm" horsepower or the product of continuous operation.

Boulder Dam Allotments.
The generating machinery at the dam is to be installed and owned by the United States Government, but the plant will be operated by the city power system and the Edison Co. each independent of the other. The city will be responsible for the transmission and delivery of power to itself and to other municipalities, including the Metropolitan Water District, and to the States of Nevada and Arizona. If these take their allotment, The Edison Co. will transmit and deliver for itself and other private power companies.

Under the contracts entered into with the Government, the power is allotted as follows: Nevada and Arizona, each 18 per cent; Metropolitan Water District, for pumping water for domestic use, 35 per cent; City of Los Angeles, 13 per cent; other municipalities of Southern California, 6 per cent; Southern California Edison and other private companies, 9 per cent.

The Government will receive for "falling water" 1.42 mills a kilowatt hour. To this must be added the cost of generation and transmission (borne by the city and company) which is expected to bring the cost of the power laid down in Los Angeles to about 4 mills a kilowatt hour. This price holds until 1948 when there will be a readjustment.

In 1930 the Department of Water and Power asked authorization for a $2,000,000 bond issue to obtain right of way and do preliminary work on the transmission system, but the voters rejected it. The amount, however, was included in a total of $13,000,000 asked for, and the fight against the issue was waged on the $11,000,000 items. It is regarded as certain that when funds are asked for the transmission line alone, they will be granted. It is expected to cost $15,000,000 or more.

Sales Growing Fast.
It is believed the Southern California market will be able to absorb the power offered. Growth of the city's electric sales has averaged 11.5 per cent annually for the last seven years and even in the depression period of 1930 it ran to more than 6 per cent. The Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation claims a growth of 14.1 per cent annually during the same period and estimates a gain of 6.4 per cent for the present fiscal year, with the last two months estimated.

Some light on the electric needs of the city is given by the report of a board of engineers named by the Chamber of Commerce, which estimates that in 1940 the city system will require a capacity of 1,895,000,000 kilowatt hours. The same engineers estimated the needed supply from Hoover dam 350,000,000 kilowatt hours, with a large amount to be supplied from other sources, some of which come, and undoubtedly will, from secondary Hoover dam power.

DR. PIEPER FUNERAL

AT 2 P. M. SATURDAY

Services at Holy Cross Lutheran Church for Head of Concordia Seminary.

The funeral of the Rev. Dr. Francis Pieper, president of Concordia Seminary, will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday in Holy Cross Lutheran Church, Miami street and Ohio avenue, adjoining the seminary's old location.

Memorial addresses commemorating the long ministerial career of Dr. Pieper, who taught in the seminary since 1878 and was its head since 1887, will be delivered by the Rev. Dr. Frederick Potent, president of the synod of Missouri, Ohio and other states; the Rev. John Oppiger of Immanuel Church; the Rev. Dr. L. Fuerbringer of Concordia Seminary and the Rev. Dr. Richard Kretzschmar of Emmaus Church. It is expected Dr. Potent will speak in German and the others in English.

At the annual commencement of the seminary today, the Rev. Henry Grueber, Milwaukee, Wis., delivered a memorial address in honor of Dr. Pieper. He declared that Dr. Pieper was a sincere Christian, a great teacher and a notable defender of truth against error. The chief address to the graduates was delivered by Dr. Fuerbringer. At the seminary baccalaureate exercises at Holy Cross Church last night, the Rev. O. Wismar, Los Angeles, Cal., paid a tribute to Dr. Pieper.

Dr. Pieper's body will lie in state at the residence, 801 DeMun avenue, on the seminary grounds, until 10 a. m. Saturday, when it will be taken to Holy Cross Church. Dr. Pieper, who was nearly 79 years old, died early yesterday of cancer, after several months' illness. He is survived by his widow and 10 sons and daughters, three of his four sons being Lutheran ministers, and five of his six daughters being wives of Lutheran ministers. Through his work in training preachers, and his writings, he was the doctrinal leader of the nation-wide Lutheran body known as the Missouri Synod of which he was president for 12 years.

TWO CONVICTED OF RUNNING STOLEN AUTO EXCHANGE

Herbert Smith and Elmer W. Lawrence Found Guilty in Federal Court at East St. Louis.

Herbert Smith, Indiana Harbor, Ind., and Elmer W. Lawrence, Manteno, Ill., were found guilty by a Federal jury in East St. Louis today of conspiring to violate the Dyer act in interstate transportation and sale of stolen automobiles. Sentences were deferred pending argument of a motion for a new trial set for June 22.

The Government contended that Smith and another man, not apprehended, transported stolen cars from Indiana to Illinois, selling them to Lawrence, a used car dealer, and that Lawrence resold them to innocent purchasers. The defendants admitted selling cars but denied knowing they had been stolen. They were charged with selling 12 stolen cars and were found guilty on three counts involving the sale of five.

CIVIC NEEDS UNIT URGES REVIVAL OF SPOT ZONING BILL

something which has occurred only once to date.

The civic council's committee, in its statement, recommended a change in the bill to permit passage of an amendment by a majority vote in the fact of an adverse Zoning Commission report. The aldermanic committee had decided to kill the bill.

The statement said, in part: "There are more than 300 cities in the United States with zoning ordinances. One of the fundamental regulations in nearly all of them is that no change shall be made without first referring the matter to the Zoning Commission, and in many ordinances there is the provision that an adverse report by the commission makes it necessary to have at least a three-fourths vote to pass the legislative branch. Courts over the entire country have held this type of regulation is to guarantee a study of each proposed change on the basis of its relationship to a comprehensive plan designed to lessen congestion in the streets, promote health, and direct city growth through orderly processes whereby land values will be stabilized."

"Up to the time that the Zoning Committee of the General Council on Civic needs completed its study of the situation in St. Louis (August, 1930) there had been 76 changes in law, of which 52 were not based on any of the factors above outlined. There have been a number of such changes since this study. 'It is to avoid such illegal changes that the amendment was proposed. There is no objection to the slight change which would carry out the City Counselor's recommendations. The Zoning Committee of the council strongly urges the Board of Aldermen to take favorable action on this matter as soon as possible under the rules of the board, an action that it, confidentially, anticipates in view of the pledge of the party platform in the recent aldermanic campaign."

MORE COMPLICATIONS IN LIFE OF PAIR MARRIED ON BRIDGE

Husband Goes to Canada to See Wife, Refused Permission to Re-enter U. S.

WINDSOR, ONTARIO, June 4.—The married life of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Grudge is filled with international complications, all because he stood on the Ambassador Bridge on one side of the Canadian-American boundary and she on the other during the wedding ceremony.

Mrs. Grudge, foreign born, was refused permission to enter the United States. Grudge came to Windsor to see her. He started to return, but was refused permission because he had failed to establish proof of a year's residence in the United States.

Two children of Mrs. Grudge, formerly Mrs. Emily Hunt, are at Rochester, N. Y., American born, but denied entry to Canada. Grudge was divorced from his first wife in Mexico, whose separation decrees are not recognized in Canada.

ILLINOIS INCOME TAX BILL BEATEN BY TWO VOTES

Rapid Maneuvering by Chicago Members Clinches Defeat of Measure in House—77 Votes Needed

TICE LOSES MOVE FOR RECONSIDERATION

Roderick Follows With Motion for Immediate Action, Which Is Tabled at Schnackenberg's Request.

By the Associated Press. SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 4.—Parliamentary maneuvering yesterday clinched the vote by which the Illinois House of Representatives failed to pass the State income tax bill.

With the measure lacking two votes of the 77 necessary to pass, Homer J. Tice, administration leader and chairman of the Appropriations Committee, changed his vote and moved for reconsideration. Then Sol P. Roderick (Rep.), Chicago, moved for immediate reconsideration, and Elmer J. Schnackenberg (Rep.), Chicago, immediately moved that Roderick's motion be tabled, which was done and defeat was written, the result of another Chicago and downstate fight.

The vote on the bill and subsequent move by Tice, sponsor of the measure, to hold off final defeat, followed his plea for its passage "even though the Supreme Court kills it as unconstitutional."

"Better find out now," Tice said, "that we can't have an income tax under the present constitution. Such a development would provide us with the strongest argument for a constitutional convention, and the rewriting of Illinois' entire basic law."

"Would Aid Property Owners," "An income tax will not be an additional burden," Tice continued. "It will relieve the burden on all people, particularly property owners."

Opposing the bill, Schnackenberg charged that the bill will work a "pyramiding of taxes." "The chief objection to this bill," Schnackenberg said, "is that it affords no means of reducing the cost of local government, as distinguished from State government. County taxes will not be reduced one cent. State taxes may be reduced, but State taxes are not the taxes which are burdensome. Why are corporations not included in this bill?"

Proponents of the measure argued that even without the offset feature the bill provides a replacement for property tax. If the State budget for next year requires $40,000,000, it was argued that funds must be raised from property.

President Earl C. Smith of the Illinois Agricultural Association, which supported the income tax bill as farm relief legislation, credited its defeat to opposition of 20 downstate Representatives, principally from cities, voting with the solid delegation from Cook County.

The roll call showed 75 affirmative votes and 74 against the tax, was as follows:

For: Republicans—Acker, Allen, Barb, Barnes, Benson, Bestoid, Black, Branson, Davis, Browner, Carroll, Childers, Clayworth, Collins, Corzine, Giffing, Hawkingson, Hunter, Jackson, Johnson, John W. Lewis, Little, Luckey, McCarthy, McCaskrin, Murren, Nyman, Peffer, Rennie, Rew, Robbins, Rush, Ed Ryan, Scarborough, Seale, Soderstrom, Sparks, F. G. Thompson, J. A. Freight from St. Louis Derailed. By the Associated Press. FELTON, Pa., June 4.—Wire communication from New York to points south and west was hampered early today by a wreck on the main line of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad between New York and Washington. Twenty cars in a freight train were derailed, carrying down 100 wires on poles along the right-of-way. Train service over the line was blocked. The train was a fast freight of 60 cars bound for Newark, N. J., from St. Louis.

10,000 SCHOOL LUNCHEONS GIVEN BY WOMEN OF LOS ANGELES

Hurriedly Prepared Following Announcement That Funds for Free Food Are All Spent.

By the Associated Press. LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 4.—Lunches for 10,000 children were hurriedly prepared and taken to the public schools yesterday by women as a consequence of an announcement by the Tenth District Parent-Teachers' Congress that its funds were exhausted with the expenditure of $200,000 during the school year.

Hundreds of automobiles were pressed into association service to meet the emergency. Mrs. James

K. Lytle, president of the association, said that under rules of the Community Chest, which contributes a part of the lunch and welfare money, no public appeal for funds is permitted until the next Community Chest drive in September.

The need of free milk and lunches, as well as medical care and financial aid, has been tremendous this year. The year's allotment from the Community Chest, the city and from funds donated by parent-teacher associations was all spent and money was borrowed from banks on personal notes of the parent-teacher officers.

ARCHBISHOP FOR DEFINITE STAND BY CHURCH ON DIVORCE

Primate of All England Opposes Divorce Before Upper House of Canterbury.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, June 4.—The importance of a definite lead by the church on the question of marriage and divorce was emphasized today by the Archbishop of Canterbury at the convocation of the upper house of Canterbury. The meeting adopted a resolution requesting the Archbishop to appoint a joint committee of both houses to consider the bearing of last year's Lambeth Conference resolution upon the practice of the church in this province and to confer with any similar committee to be appointed by the convocation of York.

"I am convinced," said the Archbishop, "that we can no longer drift in this matter of marriage and fidelity to our own principles and our relations to the law of the state without grave peril. The time has come, and more than come, when such an inquiry as is proposed should take place."

The Lambeth Conference last August recommended that the marriage of any person whose former matrimonial partner was still living should not be celebrated according to the rites of the church. The Bishop of Salisbury outlined the case for proponents of the commission objecting to what he termed the collusion that is rampant in many British divorces. "The world is bewildered and has a right to look to the church for a definite lead," he said.

The Bishop of St. Albans agreed there should be a definite statement of policy, but said he failed to see any half-way procedure between the Christian view and practices of allowing additional causes for dissolution of marriages. He added that the root of civilization was the Christian home.

WOMAN FOUND ASPHYXIATED

Gas Burner Open; Stove Defective, Says Husband.

Mrs. Evelyn Freda Smith, 29 years old, was found asphyxiated near a gas stove in the basement of her home, 4811 Ravenwood avenue, Pine Lawn, at 6 a. m. today by her husband, Roland H. Smith. The oven burner was open but not lighted.

Smith told police it was his wife's custom to treat an injured knee with heat from the stove, which he said was defective.

WILKINS' ARCTIC SUBMARINE READY FOR FINAL TESTS

Goes From New London, Conn., to Provincetown, Mass., Last Stop Before Start Across Atlantic.

By the Associated Press.

PROVINCETOWN, Mass., June 4.—The submarine Nautilus, former United States Navy boat in which Sir George Hubert Wilkins plans to go to the North Pole, arrived here at 5:25 a. m. today, prepared to go through a series of diving tests.

The submarine anchored along side of a Coast Guard destroyer in Provincetown harbor. It took a little less than 17 and one-half hours to make the trip from New London, Conn., where the craft had been refitting for the Arctic trip. A speed of nine miles an hour was maintained during the New London Provincetown run.

By SIR HUBERT WILKINS.

(Copyright, 1931.)
ABOARD THE TRANS-ARCTIC SUBMARINE NAUTILUS, June 3.—"Via Station WRIH."—The Nautilus, making between 13 and 14 miles an hour, and passing Rhode Island at 6 p. m., is headed for the submarine trial course near Provincetown. There we will make two runs on the surface and two or three submerged runs, testing the thrust of the propeller at various speeds before heading out across the Atlantic. By Thursday night or Friday, if trials prove satisfactory, the first long leg of the journey begins.

We hope our start at noon today from the submarine base at New London, Conn., graced by the presence of Capt. Brown, base commander, who dispatched us with the best wishes of the Navy, and accompanied by the destroyer Hunt, through courtesy of the Coast Guard service, was the real start of the journey.

No Specter of Creditors.
The last minute, generous aid from the Woodhale Institution and Anthony Fokker, airplane designer, made it possible for me to fulfill my desire to accompany the ship from the outset without the dreaded specter of angry creditors menacing from ashore.

Knowing that the ship is in the competent hands of Skipper Danenhower and his splendid crew and would safely make the journey across the Atlantic, I would have enjoyed a few more days with Lady Wilkins and would have had a more comfortable ocean liner voyage were it not for the explorers' training, which makes one uneasy when once an expedition is started unless one is actually on the job.

Everyone aboard is greatly pleased at the getaway. No sooner had Danenhower given orders to start the engines than the sun broke through the clouds, a splendid omen, all agree.

BOY RETURNED FROM CHINA

Child Sent Back to Foster Mother After a Year.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 4.—A mother and her 4-year-old adopted son were reunited aboard the liner Tatsuta Maru yesterday after separation of more than a year. The boy, Kenneth Kromer Wah, made the trip here from China, alone in the care of ship's attendants.

The mother was Mrs. Charlotte Wah of Brooklyn, whose Chinese husband, she said, left on Christmas eve, 1929, with their adopted boy. For some time she was unable to trace him, but finally a United States Marshal in the Orient found the lad, and after court procedure, an order was made for his return to his mother.

REFUSES TO RENEW FRANCHISE VOTES SIX-MONTH CONTRACT

MOUNT CARMEL, Ill., June 4.—The City Council has voted to contract with the Mount Carmel Public Utilities Co. for operation of the water plant here a period of six months, starting June 15 when the company's franchise expires. The council also voted to have the Caldwell Engineering Co., Jacksonville, Ill., make a survey. On the basis of its report the council will decide whether to establish a municipal plant.

Furstenau, Naval Architect, dies. PHILADELPHIA, June 4.—Martin C. Furstenau, naval architect, who designed the first "super-tugs" used in the Panama Canal, died yesterday. He was 61 years old. He designed and built the first steam ferry for railroad cars and one of the earliest oil-burning passenger vessels.

Vandals Wreck Galva Cemetery. GALVA, Ill., June 4.—Vandalism night wrecked 75 monuments in the Galva Cemetery, causing damage estimated at several thousand dollars.

Don't Rasp Your Throat With Harsh Irritants

"Reach for a LUCKY instead"

The great Lord Tennyson in a beautiful poem refers to a woman's Adam's Apple as "The warm white apple of her throat." Consider your Adam's Apple. Touch it—your Adam's Apple—That is your larynx—your voice box—it contains your vocal chords. When you consider your Adam's Apple you are considering your throat—your vocal chords. Protect the delicate tissues within your throat. Be careful in your choice of cigarettes. Don't rasp your throat with harsh irritants! Reach for a LUCKY instead. Here in America LUCKY STRIKE is the only cigarette which brings you the added benefit of the exclusive "TOASTING" Process, which includes the use of modern Ultra Violet Rays. It is this exclusive process that expels certain harsh irritants present in all raw tobaccos. These expelled irritants are sold to manufacturers of chemical compounds. They are not present in your LUCKY STRIKE. And so we say "Consider your Adam's Apple."

Many Preparations Are Not Mag

According to recent laboratory tests, it is now indicated that many preparations on the market labeled "Milk of Magnesia" are nothing more than mixtures of magnesia powder and water. So be careful what you get.

Note that such preparations are clearly labeled "Milk of Magnesia." And, thus, that the name "Milk of Magnesia" on a bottle offers you or your children no certain protection. Watch out.

Your own druggist may not yet know this situation. As thus, in all innocence, sell you one of these mixtures of plain magnesia powder and water, you go into his store and ask only for "Milk of Magnesia."

For this reason the public openly and publicly urged to ask for and accept only genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia—endorsed by doctors—for use in the home. Especially when intended for use with children.

Many Preparations Labeled "Milk of Magnesia" Are Nothing More Than Mixtures of Magnesia Powder and Water

Leading doctors, the world over, endorse Phillips' Milk of Magnesia as one of the finest products known to modern science, in protection of the public health.

None of those products made of magnesia powder and water are "like" or the "same" as genuine Phillips'. They can't be. Phillips' is made in a laboratory with more than 50 years of experience in the making of Milk of Magnesia, and some of the methods developed by Phillips are used exclusively in the Phillips' Laboratories.

Hence, for 50 years, Phillips' has been recognized everywhere as the world's leading laboratory devoted exclusively to making the finest magnesia products.

What folly, then, in the light of these things, to take chances on some other product of which you know nothing. What an injustice to yourself or your children to let anything but the recognized finest in internal remedies come into your home.

Get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia at any drug store. Ask for it by name! Identify it by the package illustrated in this advertisement—the blue package showing the signature of Charles H. Phillips on the label.

CHICAGO JUDGE ENJOINS NEVADA DIVORCE SUIT

Acts on Petition of Woman Who Cannot Go to Reno to Defend Action.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, June 4.—Superior Judge Rudolph P. de Soto of Cook County yesterday enjoined Joseph L. Sylvan of Chicago from suing for or obtaining a divorce in Reno on grounds not recognized in Illinois.

The injunction was requested by attorneys for Mrs. Edith Sylvan, who asserted she had received a telegram from a Reno lawyer that he had been retained to start divorce proceedings for her husband, head of an automobile accessories concern.

In her bill, Mrs. Sylvan declared she had no funds to go to Nevada to contest the action and that her husband, a citizen of Illinois, went to Nevada for the sole purpose of obtaining a divorce for trivial cause in evasion of Illinois law.

If a man goes to a foreign jurisdiction for the sole purpose of evading the laws of divorce in his own state, he is depriving his wife and children of defending the action as they could in their home court," Judge de Soto said. "If the wife does not have ample funds to go to the foreign jurisdiction, she is actually deprived of justice."

Suing for divorce in other states for causes recognized in Illinois, he said, is not to be criticized. Mrs. Sylvan's bill said Illinois laws give a citizen of the State the right to continue in marital status until the marriage is dissolved under Illinois statutes and that, should her husband obtain a Reno divorce, her right of protection would be destroyed. She further alleged that the "light and trivial" causes recognized for divorce in Nevada are "almost undefeatable."

The suit for injunction was filed after a severance maintenance suit had been instituted for Mrs. Sylvan by her attorney, Benjamin B. Davis. She said she has six children and alleged that although her husband has a $1000 weekly income, he gives her only $25 a week to support herself and children.

ASSIGNED TO MAKE FLIGHT DAILY BETWEEN 4 AND 5 A.M.

Jerry Marshall to Take Weather Bureau Observations from Height of 13,000 Feet.

DALLAS, Tex.—Going up every morning before breakfast to a height of 13,000 feet or more to see what the weather is like would not appeal to the layman as a "constitutional," but to Jerry Marshall, pioneer aviator of the Southwest, it will be merely his daily bread.

Marshall has signed a contract with the United States Government to make such a flight daily, beginning July 1, for the purpose of making observations for the Weather Bureau at Love Field, this service to replace the system of making upper air observations by the box kite method.

Marshall resigned a place as operations manager for the American Airways to accept the new work. He will make his daily observation between 4 and 5 a. m. An aerometer mounted on Marshall's plane will record automatically the pressure, temperature and humidity. Findings will be telegraphed to Washington and then incorporated with details from four other stations in time to release a national map at 7 a. m. for benefit of aviators. While the forecasts are to be made primarily for air mail, the information will be available to commercial and private pilots flying regular airways maintained by the United States Department of Commerce.

Free information concerning hotel and resort accommodations—railroad, bus, airline or steamship rates or schedules—and suggestions for the most convenient and enjoyable routes for automobile touring is cheerfully furnished.

F. W. WOOLWORTH CO. SALES

NEW YORK, June 4.—F. W. Woolworth Co. today reported May sales of $24,117,367, a decrease of 4.7 per cent from $25,308,640 of the like month last year.

The first five months aggregated $108,300,256, a decrease of 2.1 per cent from the corresponding period of 1930.

H. T. Parson, president, explained there was no less business day in last month, because of the being five Sundays, and the fact that Memorial day caused a loss in Saturday's sales, compared with a year ago, of $1,440,125.

"Comparing May, 1931, with 1930," he said, "even though 1930 did have an extra business day, we showed a loss in May, 1930, of 11.4 per cent compared with 1929, whereas this year we only showed a loss of 4.7 per cent."

"The extra days which we lost in May will come in June this year and we expect to make up practically all of our losses in sales for the year during June. We have steady increases in sales since the first of April."

S. S. Kresge, a reported May sales of $12,122,842, a decrease of 8.1 per cent from $13,777,855 for the like month last year. Sales for the first five months this year totaled $55,343,004, a decline of 1.2 per cent from $56,057,488 for the corresponding period of 1930.

Montgomery-Ward Co. Sales

CHICAGO, June 4.—Montgomery Ward & Co. reported a sales decline of 5.9 per cent in May, 1931, compared with May, 1930.

Company officials said this decline should not be interpreted as an indication of current business conditions. May, 1930, was abnormal in the retail calendar because of the unusually early start of the retail season.

They said that while sales followed the current trend in 1930, they were in May, 1930, and 1931 would have been about equal.

May, 1931, sales totaled $18,547,245 and the decrease was $6,502,039.

Woman Explains Changing Records in her Court and Denies Favoring Bonding Company.
By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, June 4.—Magistrate Jean H. Norris filed her answer yesterday to charges on which Referee Samuel Seabury recommends her removal.

She said minutes in the trial of Mary de Sena, alleged to have been changed by her, were "corrected" because of "inaccuracies in the report of colloquies between the court and counsel and alleged directions to the witness." She said the "corrections" were made while the happenings at the trial "were fresh" in her recollection.

She denied making "the slightest discrimination in any fashion" between the bonds of the Equitable Casualty & Surety Co., in which she was a stockholder, and the bonds of any other corporation or private person.

FORMER ARMY FLYER DEFENDS RECENT AIR CORPS MANEUVERS
Says Training as Unit Costs No More Than Operation of Planes Separately.
The recent maneuvers of the Army Air Corps were declared to be of inestimable value to the United States and its military defense by Major James H. Doolittle, noted former army experimental flyer, who accompanied the planes on their nation-wide tour.

Defending the experiment against charges of "unnecessary extravagance," Major Doolittle said that it cost no more to operate the 672 planes as a unit than separately in regular training, and said that army officers had learned facts about such flying that could not have been learned any other way. His remarks were made before officers of the 1st Division at the Knights of Columbus building.

"The maneuvers were not planned as a circus stunt," he said. "They put into practical execution plans that had been mere theories. No single serious accident occurred during the entire two weeks of flying."

Killed in First Parachute Jump.
By the Associated Press.
OWEN SOUND, Ont., June 4.—Chester Beer, 21-year-old stunt flyer, plunged 2000 feet to his death yesterday when his parachute failed to open. He had undertaken an exhibition parachute jump as a feature event of a celebration. It was his first, although he had flying experience. His body crashed through the roof of a woodwork factory.

The Old Boat.
THE Little Black Clock turned the time back to the afternoon and took John and Peggy to see an old boat along the shore of a bay.

The boat had a great big water paddle in the center and the Clock explained to John how this paddle had pushed the boat through the water in much the same way that a paddle could make a canoe move along. But now the old boat was no longer used.

"Sometimes, on a Saturday, I think it is nice to play and not to do anything special," the Clock said. The children agreed.

On the side of the boat they could still see the faded letters of its name, and Peggy was simply overjoyed to see that it had been called "The Peggy."

"The captain of this old boat," said the Little Black Clock, "had a beautiful daughter named Peggy and so he named the boat after her."

And then Peggy made a discovery.

In the shabby dining room of the boat was a cushioned seat, and in this they found a proud mother cat and her baby kittens, so tiny and adorable.

"How do you suppose they ever got here?" Peggy asked, after she had petted the mother cat and played with the kittens.

"She probably thought it would be a nice, safe place in which to raise her family," the Clock answered, "and of course she could easily get on the boat, as it's right on the land when the tide is low."

"You know, I brought along a bottle of milk. Shall we?"

"But he hadn't time to finish his sentence before both the children exclaimed, "Yes, we'll give it to the cat and her family!"

The Duke's Rich Wife Quits After 31 Years

The bankrupt Duke.

Gives Up Attempt to Restore the Impoverished Manchester to Solvency and Wins Divorce—Their Romance Was Sensation of 1900.

He received much publicity, but left that shortly to become a "reporter" with a Hearst paper.

DURING the course of his stay the Duke met Miss Zimmerman, and, according to him, they fell violently in love. Marriage, of course, was their immediate thought, but strangely enough, the girl's father protested. The strangeness lay in that titled foreigners were usually much sought after for marriageable daughters, and seldom, if ever, rejected.

But Zimmerman refused to relent, despite the pleas of his daughter, and the young couple was in a serious quandary. Then the two were thrown together more closely while both were in Paris, and Helena decided she would take action without her father's consent. They were quietly married in Paris without telling relatives.

There was, of course, a certain amount of equality in the Duke of Manchester and Helena Zimmerman marriage. While the Duke shared the impoverishment so common now to members of the nobility, as compared to the Zimmerman millions, he was accustomed to luxury and the things money buys, and would certainly be accorded higher social standing than the daughter of an American railroad magnate. Yet many attributed the matrimonial discord to the difference in fortunes, and Eugene Zimmerman based his objection to the match largely on that difference.

There are numerous instances of marital discord following in the wake of financial disparity. Mostly it is where the woman has the fortune and the man has the hands, for Prince and Cinderella marriages appear more frequently successful.

A recent case of an heiress having her "romance" go awry is Mrs. Kenneth Wilson Glaze, the former Miss Barbara Monell, whose fortune approximated $15,000,000. She was out in Colorado Springs when she met Glaze, at that time a harness maker, and previously a rodeo performer.

THE DUCHESS OF MANCHESTER.

It was a case of love at first sight, for Glaze is tall, handsome, and has the appearance associated with the typical cowboy, so shortly he and Miss Monell were married. That was in 1928, and for a time it seemed that everything was going well. They lived on a ranch, where both could indulge a fondness for horses. But apparently Mrs. Glaze could not reconcile herself to life with a cowpuncher, for this spring she went to Reno and obtained a divorce.

HELEN FISHER, a student at the City College of New York, married Harry Hamilton Drill, an attorney's son, but objection by her parents brought about an annulment. Then she remarried him, because, she said, he threatened to shoot himself, and when her parents separated them, he kidnapped her, and was arrested. However, a judge held there was no basis for prosecution. George Sylvester Vincent Wandering, New York policeman and former aviator, known as the "Adonis" of the force, has married into wealth for the third time. The first two marriages ended in divorce. One was to Miss Calire Suggs, and the other Frances Ingram, opera star and very wealthy. His present wife is the former Mrs. Myrtle Eugenia Stalla, whom Wandering, in his announcement before the wedding, described as possessor of a fortune of $5,000,000.

HEALTH

Brief articles prepared by experts. Edited by Dr. Jago Galdston, for the New York Academy of Medicine.

Paying the Price.

WHEN medical writers while treating of scientific subjects was critically philosophical. It is usually worth while listening to them.

Dr. David Riesman recently delivered an address on "High Blood Pressure and Longevity," and in his concluding remarks, he made the following observations on the American way of living:

"Hypertension is not only a disease of the individual—it is a disease of American life. It is reflected in the tension under which every individual in America lives."

"What are the causes of this American disease? They are, I believe, connected with our striving for wealth. We have created false standards, have deprived ourselves of peace and leisure and have lost the art of living wisely."

"We have had abundant material success, but have we not paid too dearly for it? It may be difficult to persuade the average American that the price has been too high, for he is still convinced that the civilization that he has created on this continent is the best in the world."

"Winston Churchill, the English statesman, accuses us of thinking that when we left Europe we took with us all the virtues and left all the vices behind. No doubt we took many virtues, but it must be admitted that we have evolved a few vices of our own."

"It might be contended that, notwithstanding our way of living, the span of life has been greatly lengthened—nearly 15 years—since 1880. But we find that the apparent prolongation of life to the age of 54 is due primarily to the saving of child life and not to the saving of adult life."

"Statistics clearly show that the span of life after the age of 45 has not been lengthened. It is highly probable that it has been shortened, and that is the price of success."

BACK in 1900 when the Duke of Manchester asked for the hand of Miss Helena Zimmerman from her father, the late Eugene Zimmerman, the father replied with an emphatic "No." He did not believe a member of the English nobility would make a good match for his daughter, especially since the Duke was not very affluent, and felt such an alliance would end in disaster.

It required 31 years to prove finally that Zimmerman's attitude was well-founded, but the Duchess obtained a divorce in London only last month. However, the intervening years were not free from turbulence, for the couple was reported estranged as early as 1914, and in 1925 the Duke applied for a divorce in France on grounds of desertion. His application was settled out of court.

The Duke came to the United States during the latter part of the last century, and was royally received by New York society. His finances were in rather bad condition, although he was far from impoverished, but finances meant nothing when one had a title as dowry. So the Duke was well supplied with invitations until:

"I saw myself getting into the rut of the gay butterfly, overwhelmed with invitations, with nothing to do but get up in the morning and begin a round of futile amusements. I grew very bored, and began actively looking for some profitable means of employing my time."

He wrote that in an autobiography published in 1923, and his hunt for employment ended more or less successfully when he became a chorus man in a New York theater.

Jordan, light and gay and charming, a man who would teach her how to spend her money for what Hildreth considered the right things, a man who would be an easy-going husband and a cavalier at one and the same time.

She did not conceal from herself that the longer Julie stayed unmarried, the better for her and Jack. Of course, when she came of age, she would be her own mistress. But it would be understandable that she would prefer to live with the Desmonds rather than, at her age, set up her own establishment. But that this consideration moved Hildreth at all, Hildreth did not admit. She believed, and sincerely, that in allowing Julie to go her own gait and find her own level she was helping the girl to discover her real and enduring position in the world. The children of today are subconsciously clever—in that they never, if possible, search after their deeper and more obscure motives.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Sen. James Couzens (Rep.), Mich., today made public letters that he had passed between himself and Attorney-General William D. Clegg, in which a question was asked concerning the propriety of the Attorney-General’s official conduct. Couzens said he was moved by the correspondence out by Clegg’s failure to reply to any series of pointed questions which the Senator had put to him. Couzens charged, in substance, that the Government had been defrauded of a possible $1,130,000 in the failure of the Department of Justice to press a tax suit against the estate of the late James J. Hill, for whom Clegg was attorney before his death.

The correspondence, which was disclosed by Clegg, was dated in 1929. It was in 1929 that Mrs. Hill, famous pioneer rail builder, died. In 1929 she drew up a will in which she transferred $1,000,000 of her fortune to a trust. Mitchell, then in private law office in St. Paul, was her legal counsel in the matter. Less than a year later, Mrs. Hill died at the age of 75. The Treasury Department, contending that the gifts had been “in contemplation of death,” levied a tax of $1,130,000 on the estate. Mrs. Hill was the widow of J. Hill, famous pioneer rail builder. In 1929 she drew up a will in which she transferred $1,000,000 of her fortune to a trust. Mitchell, then in private law office in St. Paul, was her legal counsel in the matter. Less than a year later, Mrs. Hill died at the age of 75. The Treasury Department, contending that the gifts had been “in contemplation of death,” levied a tax of $1,130,000 on the estate.

Case Dropped by Sargent. The beneficiaries of the trusts, the case to the Federal District Court at St. Paul, but the court upheld the Treasury. An appeal was then taken to the Supreme Court of Appeals. Meanwhile, Mitchell had entered the Department of Justice as Solicitor-General by appointment of President Coolidge. Reasons which have not been fully disclosed, Couzens asked Clegg to explain them. The Government offered no oral argument before the Court of Appeals, but it did its case on a brief. That it decided against the Treasury, continuing, as it did so, upon the weakness of the Government’s case.

United States District Attorney at St. Paul, and General Counsel of the Internal Revenue Bureau, immediately recommended that an appeal be taken to the United States Supreme Court, and Assistant Attorney-General Mabel Willebrandt gave orders to take all necessary steps. These preparations were cut short by the issuance of an order from the Department of Justice, signed by the then Attorney-General, John G. Sargent, that the case be dropped.

Senator Couzens’ attention was directed to the matter during the last session of Congress by Senator Hall (Rep.), Minnesota, whose challenge for a Federal judgeship had been refused to approve. Couzens, disinterested information about the charges, Couzens asked official of the Treasury to prepare a report on the facts. Some time to his surprise, he received a memorandum in which the charges were supported by a mass of documentary evidence from the Treasury records. It consisted with a series of questions, the fact that Solicitor-General Mitchell had been counsel in the case. Couzens asked the more careful to see that the Supreme Court could settle the question. The question was: “Would not the fact that the Solicitor-General had been up the trusts and testified for the taxpayer in the lower court”
